Germans Resume Air Attacks on Britain

One-Day Lull Shattered By Nazi Bombers

Fury of Onslaught Arouses Speculation On Long-Awaited Mass Invasion of England; British Pleased With Roosevelt Re-Nomination.

BULLETIN

GIBRALTAR—(INS)—Three persons were killed and several injured in an air raid on Gibraltar today.

(By Associated Press)

Nazi warplanes explosively shattered a one-day lull in bombing assaults on the British Isles today, subjecting the kingdom to machine-gun attacks on villages, dive-bombing blasts at steamers and widespread raids from Wales to the English channel.

The German high command reported attacks on the big military camp at Aldershot—England's "Plattsburg," about 30 miles southwest of London—and on airports, factories and harbors in south and central England.

At least five persons were reported killed, including a woman slain by a bomb splinter and four elderly persons in a southeast town.

The Nazi high command said "big fires were observed" in the bombing of industrial and armament plants. It also reported the landing of German troops on the French island of Ouessant, off the coast of Brittany, commanding the south gateway to the English channel.

Bad weather in the previous 24 hours had sharply curtailed both British and German air raiders, who have lashed at each other almost constantly since the "battle for Britain" began June 18.

Six Nazi Stuka dive-bombers stormed down on channel steamers in a morning attack, but an eye-witness said the ships apparently escaped harm. One of the raiders was believed shot down.

The fury of the German onslaught stirred speculation whether it signalled the opening phase of a mass invasion by 600,000 Nazi troops, which a French newspaper, Le Petit Dauphinois, said earlier this week might come Friday.

Three civilians were killed and several wounded in a bomb raid on Britain's great Mediterranean stronghold of Gibraltar early this morning — the first casualtes there of the war.

The raid followed close on a fiery speech by Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco that Gi-

Dems Cheer Wildly as FDR Is Nominated

Placing of President Roosevelt's name in nomination for a third term was the signal for a wild demonstration at the Democratic national convention in Chicago This is a view of the convention floor as the delegates, bearing their state banners and signs declaring. "We Want Roosevelt," paraded haphazardly. Senator Lister Hill of Alabama is shown, inset, as he made the nominating speech.

Says French Lulled Into False Security

Writer Declares Maginot Line From 'Alps to Sea' Never Existed; Under-Estimated Enemy.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second in a series of four uncensored articles by Kenneth Downs, International News Service Paris bureau chief, on the factors behind the military and political collapse of France.)

By KENNETH DOWNS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—Monstrous crimes were committed against the French army, both at the front and behind.

But looking back on those remote days of broder patrols last autumn, those dreary winter months of waiting, I think the greatest folly was an amazing under-estimation of the enemy and the failure of the high command, even with the example of Pocoming.

It was a kind of Maginot madness. The more ominous the signs and portents the greater was the ostrich-like tendency to close their eyes to realities—above all to see that neither the nation nor the world should glimpse the stern truth.

Myths were deliberately fostered. You undoubtedly remember those stories of the Maginot line "from the Alps to the sea." The French public certainly remembers it, for it was systematically led to believe there was such a line.

No such line ever existed.

The great system of connecting underground fortresses known as the Maginot line extended from the Swiss frontier to Montmedy, at the eastern edge of Belgium, and no farther.

The fact is that along the Belgian frontier, from Luxemborg to Dunkirk on the channel—including the very zone through which the Nazi hordes were to pour—there were no serious fortifications of the type which made up the true Maginot line fronting Germany.

Moreover, during the long

COUNTY RENTS SANITARIUM AS T. B. HOSPITAL

First Patients to Be Taken to Thomas Sanitarium Next Tuesday.

PAY $17,500 A YEAR

Commissioners Agree to Pay $69 Monthly Per Patient For Care, Maintenance.

Richland county commissioners announced today they have rented the Eleanor Thomas sanitarium for four years as a county tuberculosis hospital and will place 21 patients in the Lexington avenue institution next Tuesday.

The deal was completed with T. Amos Jones, owner of the sanitarium. It calls for a rental charge of $69 per month per patient, or approximately $17,500 a year for 21 patients.

Commissioners first considered purchasing the sanitarium, but dropped that plan after deciding it would be too much of an undertaking with the funds they have available for care of tuberculosis sufferers.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said the board "considered the rental arrangement the best and most economical that can be worked out at present."

If a half-mill T. P. levy, collected for the first time this year, is renewed at the end of five years, it may be possible for the county to build a convalescent home of its own, Mitchell said.

Pays Most of Expenses.

Dr. Lincoln Fisher, county T. B. physician, will be in charge of the home and two registered nurses will be on duty all the time, under the contract with Jones. All expenses in connection with the care of patients except Dr. Fisher's salary will be paid by Jones who will continue to operate the home. Only county T. B. patients will be cared for in the institution.

Mitchell said it costs the county an average of $100 per month per patient for keeping indigent coun-

All Precedent Tossed Aside By Democrats

President's Nomination Unanimous as Rivals Withdraw; Acceptance Speech Expected to Be Made Over Radio From Washington Tonight.

BULLETIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will fly to Chicago from New York today and there were unconfirmed reports she may address delegates to the Democratic national convention who early this morning re-nominated her husband for a presidential third term.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Franklin D. Roosevelt was renominated for president early today by a Democratic national convention which, with a thunderous disregard for precedent, flung aside the 144-year-old two term tradition.

Meanwhile, Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and one-time Republican, emerged as President Roosevelt's choice for the vice presidential nomination.

Ignoring the president's message that he had no "desire or purpose" to be a candidate, the delegates gave him 946 13-30 votes on a first ballot roll call to a collective 149 1-15 for four other candidates.

Their votes:
James A. Farley 72 27-30.
Vice President Garner 61.
Sen. Millard Tydings 9 1-2.
Secretary Cordell Hull 5 2-3.

Each of the others quickly removed himself from the field, and with a roar of acclamation the nomination was made unanimous.

Then the convention sat down to wait for Mr. Roosevelt's reply to the appeal that he run again.

A special committee tried to reach him by telephone following the nomination, but, it being well after midnight, was told he had retired. Nevertheless, it went ahead with tentative arrangements for him to give his answer in a radio speech tonight.

Word that the secretary of agriculture had the president's approval for the vice presidency was given by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) as he emerged from the hotel room of Secretary of Commerce Hopkins and shouted "It's Wallace."

Both Hopkins and Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.), chairman of the convention notification committee, had been in contact with the White House by telephone.

Byrnes, it was reported, had firmly eliminated himself from the vice-presidential picture. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, generally reported to have been the White House first choice, also had refused flatly to be considered.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Roosevelt will make a nationwide radio address tonight, presumably to tell the country he had reluctantly decided to run for a third term, it was learned late today.

The president, it was reliably reported, will go on the air at 9 p. m., EST

Mr. Roosevelt's managers were said not to be disturbed by the fact that Wallace formerly was a Republican, although this question was reported to have been discussed in confer-

ASSAILANT OF CHILD ESCAPES

Mother Chases Man She Found Attempting to Assault 5-Year-Old Daughter.

Fleeing from a young mother who chased him for several blocks, an unidentified man who attempted to criminally assault the woman's five-year-old daughter was being hunted today by police.

The mother, hearing the child's cries, ran to her rescue. She chased the intruder over several streets, only to lose him when he cut through a back lot in the north-end

Mrs. George Winbigler, 11½ East Fifth street, called police after the man had eluded her near the Coca Cola bottling plant on North Diamond street.

She told officers that she was working upstairs in her apartment when she heard her small daughter cry out in fright. She rushed to the stairs and saw an unknown man attempting to assault the child. He had removed some of her clothing.

Mrs. Winbigler rushed down the stairs and the intruder fled. She gave chase, following him east on Fifth street to Diamond and then north on Diamond street. Near the bottling plant the man ran behind the building where she lost sight of him.

Patrolmen George Yoakum and Russell Miles searched unsuccessfully for the man for several hours. They said the child was unharmed.

Mrs. Winbigler described the man as about 30 years old, six feet tall and dressed in tan trousers and shirt, with a light cap.

BOLTS PARTY

Nebraska Democratic Senator Gives Support to Willkie.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Edward R. Burke (D-Neb.) announced here today that he would bolt Democratic party ranks and support Wendell L. Willkie, Republican, for the presidency.

The Nebraska Democratic senator, defeated for renomination recently, made public a letter to the Republican presidential nominee which said:

"As one who feels deeply that in the light of present world conditions it is essential for our country to maintain the two-term limitation on the tenure of office of president, I shall work for your victory at the polls in November."

The senator wrote Willkie that he was "certain that a host" of Democrats would support the Republican nominee.

HOME LOOTINGS HERE REACH 19

Two More Mansfielders Report Loss of Cash in Renewal of Robbery Wave.

Police today had two more burglaries to add to the long list of house breakings that have baffled them for the past three weeks.

Two house robberies reported esterday brought to 19 the number of unsolved house breakings during the past three weeks. Two automobiles were also looted yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Falter, 206 South Mulberry street, and Mrs. Ethel Seamon, 212 South Mulberry street, told police that small sums of money had been taken from their homes. Both homes were left unlocked.

Mrs. Falter told officefs her home had been entered and $6 taken from her purse. Mrs. Sea-

FUND GROWING

War Relief Contributions Here Reach $12,328.

Contributions to the Red Cross war relief fund continue to be received at the office of the Richland county chapter. Total fund for the city and county is now $12,328, a sum $328 above the double quota set up for the county by national headquarters.

Largest gift since the close of the drive last week was received today when Nick Poulos Mavros, cigar store proprietor at 204 North Main street, made a contribution of $100.

Mavros' gift today brought the total contributed since the drive closed to $161

The chapter has been urged by national headquarters to continue to accept contributions for war relief for an indefinite period.

STUDY CHARGE

Ohio Bureau Accused of Maladministration.

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Charges of maladministration against the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation are being studied by the social security board preliminary to efforts toward adjustment

Officials said the board went over an interim report of investigators who visited the state after the complaints were filed several months ago with Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, by John Owens, head of the Ohio CIO.

UNION PLANNED

STOCKHOLM —(AP)— A Berlin dispatch to the newspaper Aftonbladet said today that the parliaments of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia are expected to declare next Tuesday formal union with Soviet Russia approved by the voters this week.

Mayor Maps Action on Report of Citizens' Traffic Survey

A plan to "get busy at once" on the recently completed traffic survey, was being mapped today by Mayor J. W. Locke.

He will meet with Police Chief Meade K. Bates, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, City Solicitor Marion Ward and Arthur Croak, chairman of city council's traffic committee to discuss the proposals within a few days, the mayor said.

Locke said that pending city council's decision on parking meters, recommended by the Citizens' committee survey, that he would get to work on the recommendations in the survey which can be carried out at once. One of these was the enforcement of an existing regulation to by-pass truck traffic on Route 42 away from Central park.

Locke said his plan was to take up the survey report point by point and name city officials or responsible persons to the task of working out each point.

The parking meter plan has been read before city council twice and comes up for its third and final reading at the next regular meeting on Aug. 6. Many of the recommendations in the citizens survey depend upon installation of parking meters.

Locke said that most urgent in the street widening program are changing the sidewalks on the north and south side of Central park, and widening Walnut street. Advisability of bringing these projects to city council will be discussed at the meeting late this week or early next week.

JUST RIGHT, EH?

And This Kind of Weather's Likely to Stay Longer.

There may not be much of it but this is the type of weather that has people going around saying "Just right—neither too cold nor too hot," and there was some indication today that it might continue.

Yesterday's highest temperature was 76 in spite of bright sunshine throughout the day, and today at noon thermometers stood at 78, with a cool breeze tempering the sun. The lowest point during the night was 55, making the average 65, or five points below average.

APPROVED: Peace Platform Passed By Chicago Delegates

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—The Democratic party formally entered the 1940 election campaign today with a platform pledging not to send American troops overseas except in case of attack and to give all consistent material aid to victims of "ruthless aggressors."

The party's national convention shouted quick approval last night of the platform, which said:

"We will not participate in foreign wars and we will not send our army, navy or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack."

This statement put both major parties on record against involvement in foreign war, the Republicans having made such a pledge last month.

Secretary Hopkins, liaison man for the president here, said there was nothing in the foreign policy plank as finally approved that "changes by one jot the foreign policy of the president."

Leaders of a "non-interventionist" group generally hailed the plank as satisfactory. Senator

FAVORITE: Sawyer Supported By Ohio for Vice Presidency

By F. J. STARZEL

CHICAGO—(AP)—After giving President Roosevelt a solid block of 52 votes, Ohio delegates to the Democratic national convention today solicited the president's support of their "favorite son"—National Committeeman Charles Sawyer—for the vice presidential nomination.

U. S. Treasurer W. A. Julian of Cincinnati, chairman of a caucus at which the Sawyer boom started, informed the president Ohioans had bound themselves to the former lieutenant governor and asked an expression of approval of Sawyer as a running mate.

Meanwhile, Buckeye delegates button-holed those from other states for support of their candidate as Perry Faulkner of Montpelier, O., prepared a speech placing the Ohio committeeman in nomination.

Faulkner's position was clouded somewhat by his wearing of a Paul V. McNutt badge which he said he would continue to wear while nominating Sawyer.

A promise that organized labor would support either Sawyer or Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace came from John Owens, Ohio CIO head, and associates of former Gov. Martin L. Davey joined the drive, hoping to bolster the Ohio Democratic harmony spirit.

Starting late, the Sawyer boom rapidly became a serious campaign with leaders asserting it had a "splendid chance" of succeeding. Some delegates observed privately, however, that it got under way too late to make much progress.

Baseball Holds No Worries for Big Jim Farley

CHICAGO —(INS)— Jim Farley, who's been guarding a secret of his own—will he or wont he run the New York Yankees—let a revealing cat out of the bag today.

"A year from now, Jim, you won't be worrying about little things like politics," a friend shouted at him. "You'll have real worries on your hands. You'll be trying to diagnose a mid season slump and wondering what's happened to the short stop."

"Little things like that aren't going to worry me!" Jim grinned. "Man, I've really had troubles!"

GLOOMY CHICAGO

First Bad Weather of Week Hits Convention.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Cloudy skies and early intermittent showers brought the first gloomy weather to Chicago today since the Democratic national convention opened Monday. The temperature was in the low 70's this morning but was expected to go to 85 or possibly higher later in the day.

TELLS BUILDERS TO COMPLY WITH SECURITY ACT

Mansfield Branch Manager Says Construction Trade Workers Covered.

Building trades workers are covered by the Social Security act and taxes must be paid on their wages, Robert G. Mish, manager of the Mansfield field office of the Social Security board, warned contractors and builders today.

"Contractors who employ one or more workers must comply with the Social Security act," Mish said. "It is necessary to pay the social security tax each quarter to the collector of internal revenue at Cleveland. The tax includes one per cent of the pay of the workers and a like amount as the employer's share."

He cautioned that when payment is made that a report must be filed, showing the name, social security number and wages paid to each worker during the quarter covered by the tax accompany the funds.

"Employers are required to keep records which can be checked in connection with the payments of benefits or other social security matters, Mish added. "The law now requires that workers shall receive receipts showing deductions which have been made from their pay for old-age and survivers insurance."

Pointing out that regulations require that every employer must have an identification number, Mish said applications could be obtained at the Mansfield field office in the Richland trust building.

He advised building trades contractors as well as other employers in doubt as to their responsibilities under the social security act to call at the board office for information which may be of value in avoiding penalities imposed for failure to pay taxes.

American educational institutions received approximately $17,000,000 in gifts and bequests in 1939.

"CASH WAS NEVER PUT TO BETTER USE..."

"WITH MY LOAN of $400 I paid a debt to my daughter . . . and fulfilled the biggest obligation that a parent owes a child—the preparation for useful living.

"Nursing was the vocation my daughter had chosen and she had everything needed to succeed—intelligence, good health and a sympathetic disposition—everything except the registration fees, the price of uniforms, books and equipment. But The City Loan with prompt, willing service, provided the needed funds.

"I may never be able to do more for my daughter. I may not have a dollar to leave her when I pass on. But I'll know I'm bequeathing her the richest heritage of all—happiness in work she enjoys. I'll be giving her knowledge, skill and a place in the sun. Thank you, City Loan."

'LOOKS LIKE GOOD COLLECTION' VENTURES KOLB, TAKER OF TAXES

With real estate tax receipts averaging more than $4,000 a day, collections for the last half of the year had reached $142,000 today.

The collection still has more than five weeks to go and by the time the tax books close on Aug. 20 County Treasurer John Kolb expects to have at least $600,000 in the county tax fund.

"It looks like a good collection from here", Kolb said.

Most of the payments so far have been small ones from individual property owners, it was pointed out. Payments on big industrial and utility holdings are expected to boost receipts later.

The treasurer anticipates less of a last-minute rush than in previous years, however, because a number of property owners are paying by mail and others have taken care of their taxes earlier than in recent years.

Since statements were mailed out this year, property owners can determine how much they owe without going to the treasurer's office or telephoning.

Two Mansfielders at O. S. U. Maintain High Grades.

Two Mansfield students attending Ohio State university, have been named to the spring quarter honor roll, it was announced here today.

They are Russell Shryock and Richard Coe. Both made an average of "B" or better, and both are registered in the college of commerce and administration.

Floyd B. Million, world history teacher at Senior high school, is one of the many teachers enrolled at the university this summer in the "workshop in secondary education", working on problems of their own choice. Million is studying the development and evaluation of reflective thinking in the social studies.

Tribe Has Lost Four Consecutive Games, But Holds Half-Game Advantage.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

THE CLEVELAND INDIANS have lost four consecutive games and regained the American league lead, all in one mysterious motion.

This proves, if anything, that the pennant fight which has been a hopeless muddle now is just hopeless.

The Indians ascended to their present pinnacle by the simple expedient of losing only one game a day while the Detroit Tigers found it possible to drop two.

It took 13 innings for Cleveland to crumble beneath the New York Yankees yesterday, 4-3, and for ten innings in the middle Bob Feller and Monte Pearson matched two-hit pitching.

Meanwhile, Detroit dipped 8-3 and 8-5 before a capacity crowd of 32,400 fans at Boston and lost Buck Newsom with a broken thumb on his pitching hand. The big, blatant righthander who has won 13 straight will be out ten days to a month.

* * *

The Tigers got three runs in the first inning and no more in the first game as Jack Wilson and Fritz Ostermueller combined in a fivehit pitching performance. The Red Sockers cracked open a tie score with five runs in the seventh.

* * *

Bobby Doerr sent Boston out in front in the nightcap with a "grand slam" homer in the first inning, and the Tigers were never able to do anything about it after that.

The Washington Senators continued to create havoc by whipping the Chicago White Sox, 5-2, with the help of five Chisox errors.

* * *

Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 2-1 verdict over the Chicago Cubs, whom he held to three bingles.

* * *

The six-game winning streak of the St Louis Cardinals came apart against the five-hit hurling of Hugh Mulcahy in another night game as the Phillies' star obtained a 3-0 shutout.

Famed Driver Makes Talks Here Friday.

Peter De Paolo, world-famous automobile driver, will deliver an informal talk at Grotto hall Friday at 8 p. m. on his racing experiensces, according to the Mansfield Automotive Supply company officials. He will also talk to Soap Box Derby kids Friday afternoon at 4 p. m. De Paolo has won the American Automobile Association National drivers championship twice and the Indianapolis Memorial Day 500-mile race in 1925. He established a record there that stood for seven years.

Walker Cops Ten-Rounder

Heavyweight Gets Decision Over Whiters.

COLUMBUS, O. —(AP)— Jack "Buddy" Walker, Columbus Negro heavyweight, was safely past another milestone today—a 10-round decision over Johnny Whiters of Pontiac, Mich.

* * *

The verdict was unpopular with about half the crowd of 4,167.

The two judges voting for Walker reported that an unintentional low blow delivered in the eighth round by Whiters, sixth ranking heavyweight in the N. B. A. ratings, decided the contest. A third judge called the match a draw.

* * *

* * *

The victory was Walker's 22nd in 23 fights. He fought one draw with Patsy Perroni of Canton.

Detroit Flag Hopes Hinge on Newsom.

JUDGE LANDIS' RULING SAVES INDIANS TROUBLE

CLEVELAND —(NS)— Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis saved the Cleveland Indian front office some trouble when he ruled Floyd Stromme, Indian farmhand at Buffalo, a free agent, C. C. Slapnicka, club vice president, said today.

"The judge merely saved me the trouble of giving Stromme his release," Slapnicka said. "He has won only four games and lost nine for Buffalo this year."

READY FOR RACE.

Final preparations are being made for the big four Star Class "C" race meet at the Ashland County Fairgrounds, Ashland, Ohio, July 21, officials of the Ashland Motorcycle club announced today.

Terriers on Down Grade

Lose 10th Straight Game To Akron, 4-1.

CANTON —(AP)— Canton's punchless pups continued on the down grade in the Mid-Atlantic league last night, losing the 10th straight game to Akron, 4 to 1.

* * *

The "terriers" lost their punch in the clinches as double plays pulled Bill Gorman, Akron hurler, out of tight spots.

* * *

Portsmouth dropped back into the cellar after losing a doubleheader to Charleston, 3 to 2 and 6 to 12.

* * *

Ed Albosta hurled four-hit ball for Dayton and defeated Youngstown, 2 to 1, by staving off a threatened ninth-inning rally.

Writer Says Armstrong Isn't the Same, But Still Tough

Champ Plenty Good

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Henry Armstrong isn't the fighting machine he was a year or two ago, but he still is plenty good.

The beating the busy little Negro gave Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins in a non-title bout under the Polo Grounds lights last night was a masterpiece in brutality. Every move of his brown body was calculated to lead to the climax between the sixth and seventh rounds, when Jenkins slumped senseless from his stool.

* * *

Few of the 23,000 spectators realized what a terrible going-over the slender Texan had received. Some were surprised when he collapsed, when Referee Arthur Donovan called Armstrong to ring center to lift his glove.

* * *

But in his dressing room, Jenkins still so dazed it took him some time to realize how his downfall had come. The battered 135-pound king continued to ask whether he had been counted out. It required all the persuasion of his manager, Hymie Caplin, to get him calmed down.

For the first three rounds, Armstrong scarcely laid a glove on his tense, savagely-punching opponent. But for the next three rounds he was poison, and Jenkins' doom clearly was sealed from the first terrific left hook that caught him on his sharp chin and dumped him to the floor.

In all, Jenkins was down six times: once in the fourth, twice in the fifth and three more times in the sixth, when he was so weary he could lash out only spasmodically by instinct. The third time he went down in the sixth he wasn't hit, but simply fell from a right he aimed at Armstrong and missed.

* * *

When the round ended he stood backed against the ropes, a pitiful expression on his bloodied features, his eyes blank. He was led to his corner and placed on his stool, but after a moment he tried to rise and, instead, went to his knees, his bushy head nearly touching the canvas.

* * *

There ended, temporarily, one of the most sensational rises in ring history. Until he met his master last night, the slim ex-soldier had won 11 consecutive fights in a year. He still holds his lightweight title.

Empire Put on Block

Yankees Definitely for Sale But Nobody Knows When, Where, or Price.

NEW YORK — (UP)—The New York Yankees' baseball empire was definitely for sale today but when, where and at what price the deal would be consummated had yet to be decided.

* * *

A mass of rumors, reports and "definite" statements for the past several weeks have had the extensive Yankee interests, fostered by the late Col. Jacob Ruppert, as (1) Definitely not for sale; (2) On the market to the highest bidder; (3) Signed, sealed and practically delivered to Postmaster General James A. Farley.

* * *

The three executors of the Ruppert estate—H. Garrison Silleck, jr., George Ruppert, Col. Ruppert's brother, and Attorney Byron Clark, jr.—had apparently agreed upon only one detail at this stage of the proceedings—that the purchaser most likely to succeed to ownership of the Yankees would be Farley.

Silleck has gone on record with a confirmation of the sale to Farley for a reported sum of $4,000,000 of which $1,500,000 would be cash and the remainder a 10-year mortgage. No papers have been signed and Farley does not "even hold an option," Silleck said, and it will take almost two months for the legal details to be handled before Farley will officially take over the club.

Blues Lose Weird Decision To Association All-Stars

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — It was a weird night of baseball and after it was all over the Kansas City Blues had lost a 5 to 3 decision to the American Association All-Stars.

* * *

Festivities opened with 18,499 fans cheering Umpire William Guthrie for his 37 years of work and was climaxed by an odd double play in the eighth in which Catcher John Riddle of the Blues made both putouts in split second succession at the plate.

* * *

The setting for the peculiar double killing put Abe Wright, Minneapolis outfielder who recently slapped out four homers and a triple in one game, at bat with the bases loaded and the score tied at three-all.

* * *

He lashed a hit deep into centerfield and two of the runners counted easily. Roberto Estalella, another Miller gardner, hesitated at second, then continued charging until tagged by Riddle. Wright was only a step behind Estalella at the plate and was the second victim. He was credited with a double.

* * *

Another novelty was the scoring of two runs by Kansas iCty in the fourth without a hit. Four walks and an error turned the trick.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

THE HEROES—Bobby Doerr, Red Sox, who hit homer with bases loaded as his club twice defeated Tigers; Luke Hamlin, Dodgers, who held Cubs to three hits.

THE GOATS—Eric McNair, White sox, who tied league record for third basemen by making four errors as Senators won; Bob Feller, Indians, who helped lose his own game to Yanks with an error and wild pitch.

CHAPTER XXX

The conference with Mr. Bobbitt lasted most of that day. Bobbitt's firm did more than sell the physical tools of bookkeeping — sales forms, ledgers, record blanks of every kind, adding machines, stationery—it also made of the salesman an expert at installing all these things. And in this somewhat peculiar trading post, whose "books" had been only Indian hieroglyphics penciled on a pine wall, Mr. Bobbitt found more than normal interest.

"This is a simple entry system, Dr. Montgomery, which ought to be adequate for this firm and which an inexpensive clerk or bookkeeper can readily understand," Mr. Bobbitt stated. "Now obviously our friend Walpi Tom is out of the picture. But even so, he has a definite business value to this establishment. He is picturesque."

Monty nodded. "Agreed."

"All right. Then I recommend that he be kept here because he knows the stock, and he doubtless is a loyal soul. Can't you, however, shift him to manual work? Put him in charge of the new gasoline and oil station out front? His Indian costume and face and speech would hold the tourists better than a pretty girl in bathing suit!"

Monty laughed with him.

"And then," Mr. Bobbitt resumed, "I would recommend that you put a young Indian couple here in the store. From the United States Indian School in Phoenix I can send you a couple of graduates who have had some strict training. A young man, say twenty-one to twenty-five, and his wife of the same age. Honorable youngsters, trained to meet people.

"One of them could take care of these books, the other clerk. The girl's a Navajo, so she can set up a big loom right here in the front of the store, or even on the front porch in summer, and weave rugs. Tourists will love that. Why, she can make more than enough to pay her salary just from tips that tourists give her to pose for movies and still photos!"

"Excellent!" Monty exclaimed.

"I urge you also to keep the store's rustic appearance. I'd kick out the modern stove that Dad Coulter used up front there in winter. For a few dollars you could put in a rock fireplace and chimney. Make it big, big enough to throw lots of heat. Logs and wood are cheap up here. Leave room around the fireplace for people. Conceal the radio speaker somewhere. Have eight or ten rustic chairs. Dr. Montgomery, a store like this can become a social headquarters, the more popular it is the more trade it will attract. Have a party here if you want to, I mean if Miss Taylor wants to. And by all means build those log cabins for tourists which you have planned."

Rosemary came to bring them cold drinks from her refrigerator, and so the three of them discussed installing a small soda fountain. In the end, though, they ruled that out. Not enough drop-in trade of that sort to make it pay.

"Keep a small restaurant service available, I'd say," Mr. Bobbitt suggested, "such as you have now, or a little larger. Keep a good cook — Pola is tops — and don't hesitate to charge a little more than cheap places charge. Keep the records straight, and watch for profits'"

Monty jabbed at him with a pencil.

"Mr. Bobbitt, I have estimated a gross take here of almost $1,500 a month or even more. And yet the profits have been around only $200."

"Goodness!" Rosemary murmured. "That doesn't sound right."

"It's absurd!" Mr. Bobbitt snapped. "It simply means careless management. Careless credit. Heavy wastage. This place is a potential money-maker. I mean, it can net ten or twelve thousand dollars a year, and that's good income for anybody! What'll you take for the establishment, Miss Taylor? Lock, stock and barrel?"

"You mean—?"

"I mean I can find you a buyer in thirty days. There's a fellow been talking to me, name of Barringer, and—"

"He has already been here."

"He has? What did you tell him?"

"I told him I told him, Mr. Bobbitt, and Monty," Rosemary spoke with a peculiar new glint of determination in her eyes, "that I appreciated his courtesy, but that I had decided not to sell. I told him that I had changed my mind about wanting to go back east. I had imagined the country life would be very dull, and the natives uninteresting. But I was wrong. Life is exciting here and the people are unselfish and kind, even though I am not yet one of them. I told him what you told me, Monty, that adaptability is a part of American character, and that happiness can be made anywhere in this great nation I told Mr. Barringer I expected to marry and settle down out here and have lots of children and be happy all my life'"

She was almost defiant, but very sincere. Both men quietly looked up at her with open admiration and respect.

"Well," Mr. Bobbitt murmured, "all I can say is, some man is sure going to be extremely lucky."

* * *

It was nearly 6 p. m. when the business conference ended and Mr. Bobbitt departed. Bob King rode up to sit on the porch with Sue and Rosemary, and Monty came outside because he was weary from pouring over books and studying figures all day.

"All quiet, for the moment. But we never can tell when hell will pop. California is having one fire after another. All the coast country is dry now. So are we."

The girls suggested dinner for the four of them on the porch and went in to boss Pola and help her prepare it. Bob walked around the front area there, inspecting the new gasoline station, greeting the few tourists and other customers who came up from time to time, playing with Cissy and the big pet panther, teasing the shy little Indian child that dared to come from Walpi's and Pola's quarters around the rear of the store. Then by chance Bob ambled over near Monty Montgomery's car and leaned against the door, looking in.

"Say!" he suddenly exclaimed, as if to himself. But he was grinning.

He reached in the rear of the car and took out a package from which the outer paper had become unwrapped.

"What you carrying around a fancy five-pound box of candy for, professor?"

Monty turned bright crimson. "Oh I say——!"

He had actually forgotten that the candy was there! Some nights ago he had bought it in a sudden decision to do active wooing, but immediately he had learned that Rosemary loved another man. At least she had told him she did, and he had unselfishly set in to build up that man and let her have her heart's desire. Since then he had been so busy for her that the candy had stayed on the car floor, ignored.

Now, though, Monty was frantic for an explanation. Bob King would love a chance to razz him, and plainly was thinking he had found one.

"The candy—it, ah, is a sample!" Monty quickly managed, swallowing hard. "Um, a sample. The Summit Trading Post was to consider stocking that brand," he was fibbing desperately.

"Oh," said Bob, let down.

"Oh I say—ah, Bob! Would you—? In this form the candy was deemed too expensive for a store such as this. The box here retails at seven dollars and a half. But rather than return it we could sell it at the wholesale price of—of four. Inasmuch as you have been—ah, attentive, to Rosemary, I thought perhaps—"

Bob suddenly beamed in surprise and gratitude.

"Say, that's an idea, professor! I'll just take it. I'm so busy I can't see much of her myself. This is swell! Thanks!"

To Be Continued.

PROSPECT PARK MAPS OPENING

New Tennis Courts, Ball Field To Be Opened at Lawn Fete Set for July 25.

Official opening of Prospect park for the summer season has been set for July 25 and will be held in conjunction with the park's annual lawn fete, it was announced today by park officials.

At that time, the new tennis courts and ball field will be opened to the public for the first time. During the spring season, both the courts and field have been graded and put into first class playing condition, officials said.

A kittenball game is being scheduled for that evening to officially open the fields.

As a feature of the opening program, the Senior high school band, directed by J. Merton Holcombe, will present a concert beginning at 7 p. m. The lawn fete will get underway about 5:30 p. m. Soft drinks, sandwiches, ice cream and cake will be sold on the grounds throughout the evening.

Festival arrangements are in charge of a committee made up of Claude Zediker, general chairman, Roy Vaughn, Gilbert Logan and Don Orewiler.

The Continental Divide runs through New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming and forms the boundary between Idaho and Montana.

CONFER DEGREE

The first degree will be conferred on a class of candidates at a meeting of Mansfield Lodge No. 19, I. O. O. F., at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Odd Fellows hall.

Candidates will be from Lucas, Johnsville and Crestline, and work will be conducted by the first degree staff of Mansfield lodge. A business meeting will follow the work, followed by a lunch.

Didn't Know It Was Possible, Says Joyful Mansfield Man

Those Agonizing Pains Across My Back and Down Through My Legs Are Giving Way Faster Than I Even Hoped For, After Vendol Gave Such Relief from Constipation and Acted on My Kidneys.

MR. JOHN C. FRIEND

If suffering from constipation or need of a diuretic action on your kidneys has made you a victim of pains across the back and through your limbs, caused dizzy feelings, headaches, nervousness, and other symptoms, you should visit Central Drug Store and learn what Vendol, the medicine of Roots, Herbs, and Alkalines, has done for many others who once suffered this way.

Mr. John C. Friend, a carpenter by trade residing on route 2, Mansfield, tells how Vendol brought amazing relief after everything else tried had failed. "I suffered such pains and stiffness in my back and had such poor luck with the medicines I tried that I thought relief was not for me.

"I had some other complaints too which were due to daily constipation, such as headaches, nervousness that got me up all during the night, then getting up in the morning feeling tired, achy, and miserable, and not even wanting to go to the breakfast table, and what I ate turned sour in my stomach.

"The first bottle of Vendol proved that it was good medicine, so I got more along with a box of the little Vendol laxative tablets, and truly I didn't know it was possible to get such relief as this medicine gave me. It relieved my constipation, acted on my kidneys; then the aches and pains grew less day by day until now, I'm truly like another person. Vendol helped me so much I'm glad to praise and recommend it to anyone who needs a medicine like this."

If Vendol helped this person living right here at home, it will do the same for you, so why not begin taking this double-acting compound made from Senna, Dandelion, Queen's Root, May Apple, Anis Seed, and 7 other roots and herbs combined with valuable alkalines. Come to Central Drug Store, corner Main and Fourth streets, learn how Vendol will help you also. All drug stores sell Vendol.

CARLING'S INSPECTED
"PLENTY WARM, EH? I COULD GO FOR A GLASS OF BEER RIGHT NOW."
"COME WITH ME—I'LL SHOW YOU WHERE YOU CAN GET DRAFT BEER THAT IS REALLY CLEAN."

BEER COMES CLEAN AT CARLING'S INSPECTED BARS

Carling's Black Label Draft Beer and Ale are produced under the most strictly sanitary conditions. Now, in cooperation with its dealers, Carling's has taken a further and most important step to insure that Carling's Beer stays clean right up to the moment you drink it. Carling's has inaugurated a regular inspection service of the dispensing facilities wherever Carling's is served on draft. Trained inspectors make their "rounds" regularly, checking the conditions under which your Carling's Draft Beer is drawn and certifying the cleanliness of the entire dispensing system. So now, in addition to Carling's Draft Beer being always mild in flavor, it comes to you with its full brewery goodness—it is never too warm, never too cold, always clean. Whatever your preference in Carling's products—draft beer, bottled beer or ale—you can buy them with confidence, consume them with relish. Look for the Carling's sign of cleanliness. It is your assurance of a clean tavern and bar. No other kind can display this sign of cleanliness.

GETS DIGNITY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal.—(U.P.)—Swing music may eventually become the folk song of the 20th century, Prof. Albert Eikus, head of the department of music at Stanford University, believes. He declares that the continued popularity of swing has developed it into something more than a fad.

Camera Catches Well-Knowns In Chicago

THEATERS

Prevue at Ohio Tonight.

Tonight at the Ohio will be presented the prevue showing of "All This and Heaven Too," starring Bette Davis and Charles Boyer in the famous Rachel Field story. There will be only one performance and all seats are to be reserved for the showing at 8.30 p. m. Continuing through Friday is the popular film "Andy Hardy Meets Debutante" which has in the large cast Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Diana Lewis and Lewis Stone.

* * *

Crime Plot and Love Story.

Ingenious means by which an underworld syndicate distributes counterfeit lottery tickets are graphically shown for the first time in "Missing Evidence," a drama starring Preston Foster and Irene Hervey. This picture and "Intermezzo," a Love Story, introducing Ingrid Bergman, with Leslie Howard, are the films at the Park beginning today.

* * *

Two Varied Comedies.

One of the season's sparkling comedies will open Friday at the Ritz in the form of "Three Cheers for the Irish." The film stars Thomas Mitchell, Priscilla Lane, Dennis Morgan, Virginia Grey and Irene Hervey. The co-feature is "Viva Cisco Kid," with the gay Cesar Romero as the title star. This is another in a series of stories about the O. Henry caballero. Jean Rogers is the leading lady.

* * *

Showing only on Friday at the Madison will be "Queen of the Mob," based on J Edgar Hoover's book "Persons in Hiding." The cast includes Ralph Bellamy, Blanche Yurka, Jean Cagney, J. Carroll Naish and many others. It is a story of the ruthless activities of an underworld mob, directed by a woman who is a strange mixture of maternal tenderness and brutal shrewdness.

* * *

Comedy and Western.

What happens when a jilted romeo hires gangsters to "bump him off," then cannot find the gunmen to cancel the deal after he falls in love again, provides the hilarious theme for the romantic comedy film, "Love, Honor and Oh-Baby" showing Friday and Saturday at the Majestic. The co-feature is one of the popular Bob Steele pictures, "Pinto Canyon." This is a western in which Bob holds a bandit gang at bay under cover of his gun, until a posse arrives.

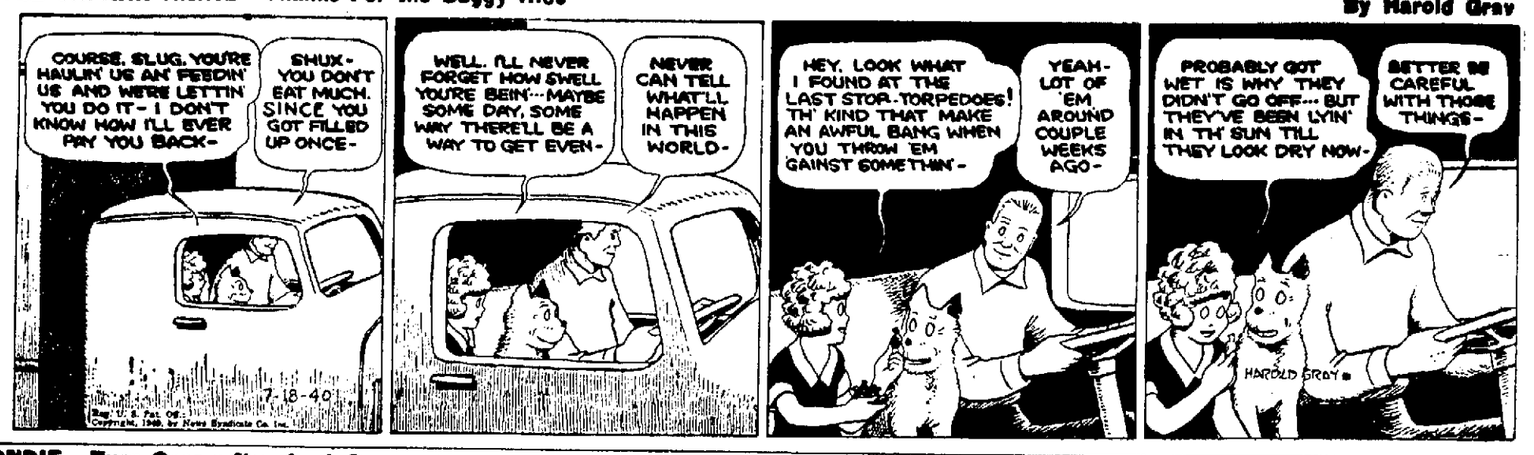
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Thanks For the Buggy Ride

By Harold Gray



COURSE, SLUG, YOU'RE HAULIN' US AN' FEEDIN' US AND WE'RE LETTIN' YOU DO IT- I DON'T KNOW HOW I'LL EVER PAY YOU BACK-
SHUX- YOU DON'T EAT MUCH, SINCE YOU GOT FILLED UP ONCE-
7-18-40
WELL, I'LL NEVER FORGET HOW SWELL YOU'RE BEIN'--MAYBE SOME DAY, SOME WAY THERE'LL BE A WAY TO GET EVEN-
NEVER CAN TELL WHAT'LL HAPPEN IN THIS WORLD-
HEY, LOOK WHAT I FOUND AT THE LAST STOR-TORPEDOES! TH' KIND THAT MAKE AN AWFUL BANG WHEN YOU THROW 'EM 'GAINST SOMETHIN'-
YEAH- LOT OF 'EM AROUND COUPLE WEEKS AGO-
PROBABLY GOT WET IS WHY THEY DIDN'T GO OFF--- BUT THEY'VE BEEN LYIN' IN TH' SUN TILL THEY LOOK DRY NOW-BETTER BE CAREFUL WITH THOSE THINGS-

HOW COULD YOU MAKE A MISTAKE LIKE THAT? DIDN'T YOU READ THE LABEL ON THE BOTTLE?
I KNEW IT WAS AMMONIA
I THOUGHT THAT'S WHAT YOU USED IN SALADS

PAM—"What Is It?"

By A. W. Brewerton

BACK TO GAIL AND PAM, NOW!
OH -I HOPE SHE'S NOT HURT BADLY- THE POOR DEAR!
QUICKLY, THE TRAINED NURSE ADMINISTERED TO THE UNCONSCIOUS GIRL, APPLIED RE-STORATIVES, CARED FOR HER INJURY!
7-18
A SWELLING ON HER HEAD -- MUST HAVE STRUCK IT-ON SOMETHING! -PULSE IS OKAY - COMING TO, NOW---
SOON, PAM OPENED HER EYES WITH A MOAN!
OH - MY HEAD!
THERE, THERE, HONEY- YOU'LL BE ALL RIGHT
THEN, SUDDENLY, PAM UTTERED A STARTLED CRY, AS SHE RAISED ON HER ELBOW!
PAM! -WHAT IS IT? - IS IT THE PAIN?

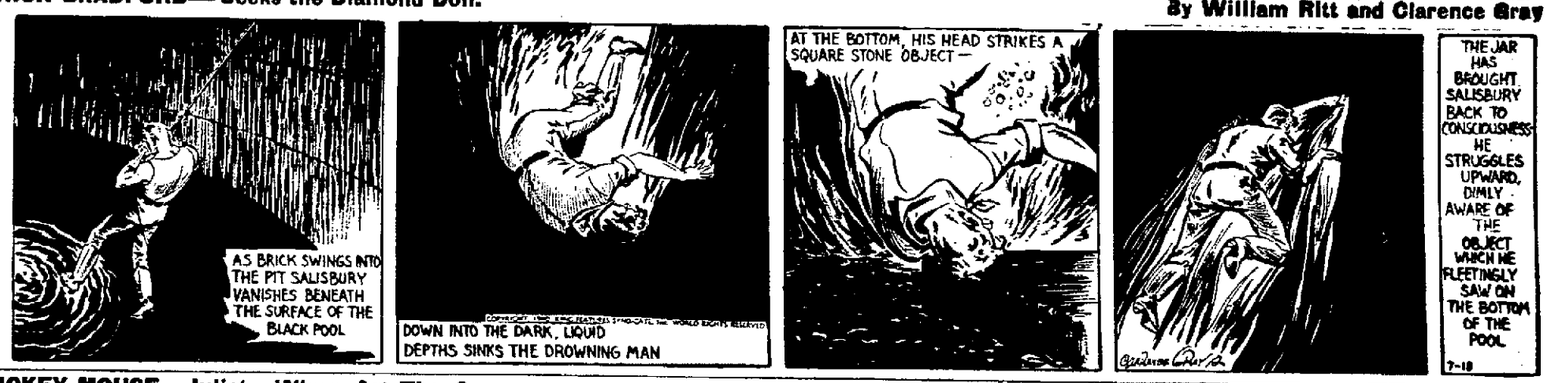
PA, YOU BETTER START OUT WITH SOME SOUP- GOT BEAN SOUP-- YOUR FAVORITE
NOPE, I AIN'T GOING TO DULL MY APPETITE WITH NO SOUP WHEN THERE'S STEAK- IT'S A LONG TIME SINCE I EVEN SNIFFED A STEAK
LAST TIME I HAD IT WAS WHEN OUR COW JENNIE BROKE HER LEG AND WE HAD TO SHOOT HER
YES, AND YOU ET YOURSELF INTO DYSPERSIA, SO BETTER BE CAREFUL
LOOK AT SOPHIE'S OLD MAN- HE THINKS A NAPKIN IS A MUFFLER AND IF IT WASN'T FOR HOLDING HIS MEAT STILL WHEN HE CUTS IT HE COULD THROW HIS FORK AWAY!

BRICK BRADFORD—Seeks the Diamond Doll.

By William Ritt and Clarence Gray



AS BRICK SWINGS INTO THE PIT SALISBURY VANISHES BENEATH THE SURFACE OF THE BLACK POOL
DOWN INTO THE DARK, LIQUID DEPTHS SINKS THE DROWNING MAN
AT THE BOTTOM, HIS HEAD STRIKES A SQUARE STONE OBJECT—
THE JAR HAS BROUGHT SALISBURY BACK TO CONSCIOUSNESS HE STRUGGLES UPWARD, DIMLY AWARE OF THE OBJECT WHICH HE FLEETINGLY SAW ON THE BOTTOM OF THE POOL

WALL STREET NARROW LANE FOR TRADERS

Speculators Still Holding Back In Fear of Hitler Attack on England.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK It was a two way street and an extremely narrow one for today's stock market

Brokers blamed speculative apathy mainly on growing fears of traders that the long-waited Hitler attack on England was about due. Renomination of President Roosevelt was in line with Wall Street forecasts.

Bonds and commodities jogged over an irregular route

Restraint shares included General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, N. Y. Central, United Aircraft, Kennecott and General Electric. Backward were Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Standard Oil of N. J., Texas Corp and Montgomery Ward

Steels had to contend with reports new orders for the metal were not coming in at the June rate.

The federal reserve board announced its adjusted index of industrial production rose in June to 114 from 106 in May

Bank clearings for the week ended July 17, as summarized by Dun & Bradstreet, were up 10.8 per cent over the comparable 1939 week and were $1,278,969,000 larger than in the preceding week.

COUNTY ADDS 27 PENSIONERS

Additional Funds Allowed by State Results In Increase In Number, Amounts.

With additional old age pension funds provided by the Ohio legislature at its recent special session, 27 more pensioners have been added to the rolls in Richland county so far this month, Tom McCaw, head of the state division of aid for the aged, said today.

The new cases boosted the total number of pensioners in the county to 1,293 and increased the amount paid to Richland county pensioners by $741 a month.

Pension payments to Richland countians in July will total $30,-012 as compared to $29,271, McCaw said. Average payments to each pensioner in July will be 23.21, an increase of 11 cents per case over June, McCaw said.

The 27 new pensioners in Richland county represent all the county applications which have received final approval at Columbus. Others are expected to be added to the rolls next month.

Throughout Ohio approximately 5,000 more aged people will get pensions this month and almost that many will be added in August, it was said. There will be about 128,000 old age pensioners in the state by the end of July. Total pension payments this year will amount to nearly $35,000,00.

SPONSOR DANCE ON ANNIVERSARY

100 Attend Youth Co-Operative Frolic at Hall.

The third anniversary of the Richland County Youth Co-Operative was the occasion for a celebration at Trades Council hall Monday night.

About 100 young men and women attended the affair which featured an old-fashioned barn dance.

Charter members and organizers of the group were honored and presented with gifts. They were Rev. R. A. Hall and Harry Miller, advisors, Phyllis Berry, Rhea Downs, Lee Humphrey, jr., and William Lawrence.

The Co-Operative was organized to provide regular recreational meetings for young people of the county.

RECEIVE FUNDS

City, County Receives $4,050 In Relief Money.

Mansfield, Shelby and Richland county today received a total of $4,050 in state relief funds, while the county got an additional $2,330 allocation as a part of the balance due from the state for last year.

In the distribution of June money, the county received $1,865; Mansfield, $1,852, and Shelby, $333. The distribution was made from a $750,000 state relief fund. Total relief costs for June in Ohio were $1,836,-575, a slight decline from the May bill.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said the $2,330 check represented a part of the funds due the county from allocations made during the last half of 1939 when the state was unable to provide its 50 per cent share of the relief costs as set up in a new relief law which went into effect about a year ago.

The average annual apple harvest in the United States in recent years has been about 150,000,000 bushels.

AIR TRAINING POPULAR MOVE AT TUSKEGEE

Enviable Flying Record Set By Students at Colored University.

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—(U.P.)—Seventeen sturdy young Negro aviation enthusiasts at Tuskegee Institute have established an enviable flying record.

Every student taking the course passed the first semester. And, according to a recent survey, this is the first mechanical school in the southeastern states to pass a class in aeronautics 100 per cent.

One scored an average of 98, and another made 100 on regulations and 92 on navigation and meterology.

Their airfield is not a choice one. Because of trees, rolling land and other land obstacles, every landing they make is a spot landing—not so easy as floating down at a municipal airport.

George L. Washington, head of the Tuskegee department of mechanical industries, pleaded before the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington for an exception to the rule that a school must have an available airport within 10 miles to obtain the civil pilots training program.

For two months the flying class drove 80 miles a day for flight training at Montgomery. Then it became possible to lease a private field seven miles from Tuskegee.

The school furnished $1,000 and students gave their efforts to building a two-ship hangar, clearing off trees, filling in holes and erecting field markings. This field finally was approved by the CAA.

Now they have won approval of the Alabama Aeronautics Commission to build two half-mile runways 500 feet wide on the college camps. They hope to raise $24,0000 in private funds to erect an airport and hangar.

WILL DECLARES MOTHER'S BOSS

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—"Your mother is boss," the sons of Frederick H. Jantzen were admonished in their father's will, probated recently, but the will carried an afterthought: "while she remains a widow."

Jantzen's will, disposing of an estate of $161,000, read:

"I desire that my wife, Mary Jantzen, be provided for during her life while she remains a widow. If she marries again she should be supported by her new husband."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous w... from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Simple Anemia (deficient quality of the blood) develops so gradually, in many people, that their blood is greatly impaired before they realize what is the matter.
Without enough hemoglobin to carry a plentiful supply of oxygen and other essential materials, your blood slowly starves your body into an anaesthetic state. The physical resistance of such a body is lowered, making us more susceptible to disease.
Fortunately, there is a simple way to fight simple Anemia—with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They contain iron which the hemoglobin in your red blood cells must have to carry vital, life-giving oxygen and other essential materials from your lungs to every part of your body.
If you look pale, always feel tired, are easily upset and worry over trifles, run-down, try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Don't let simple Anemia get a stranglehold on you. Be sure you get the genuine Dr. Williams Pink Pills — 60c at your druggist.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1940.

Roosevelt, Willkie and Tradition

THESE are tradition-shattering times, with the newest tradition to fall the old one about a third term for presidents.

Probably no one is surprised at the nomination of President Roosevelt by the Democratic convention last night to carry the party's standards into the November battle of ballots. It had been expected for many months, had been considered a certainty as a result of the president's statement issued Tuesday night.

Nevertheless its impact is far more than routine simply because no political party in the history of the country has ever nominated a candidate for a full third term.

And so the 1940 campaign will be one highlighted by shattered traditions on both sides.

For the Democrats, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt runs for a third term.

For the Republicans, Wendell L. Willkie, who has never held political office in his life, and has been a member of the party only a few years, carries the hope of a party that has been the minority in federal government for the past seven years and now seeks to return to power.

The race will be as Willkie wanted it—he wanted to meet "the champ" and he will.

It will be a hectic campaign, one of the most interesting in the nation's history.

No matter who wins, tradition will have been shattered.

Mansfielders, Please Note

IN THE reflected glare of bursting bombs from both sides of the world and in the re-echoed roar of propaganda, it is easy to miss the signal flares and quiet voices announcing that Mansfield is forging ahead as a thriving industrial city with steady, rapid pace.

Latest of four major signals to appear above the city's horizon was the announcement this week that Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company will increase its warehouse facilities almost fifty per cent at an estimated expenditure of $560,000.

The new warehouse, to be built just east of the present building, will provide 126,000 feet of storage space in a modern building, adding substantially to the city's industrial area.

Already under way at Westinghouse is the construction of a new $500,000 metal stamping building which brings to more than a million dollars the total expansion in the city this year by one industrial concern alone.

With their outlook literally in the clouds, city, state, National Youth administration, and Richland county Aeronautics association officials are meeting today to draft final plans for a $40,000 improvement project at Mansfield airport. Much needed, the work would lengthen and resod the runways, construct an administration building, and provide a state park fronting on route 13.

Airports are no longer a civic dreamer's folly. National defense not only demands an increasing number of them in strategic locations, such as Mansfield's, but it also gives sound impetus to the whole aviation industry which means increased airport business generally.

The city itself is preparing to tighten its belt and operate on a business-like pay-as-you-go basis—the only way to operate, if citizens are to derive full benefit from industrial and physical improvement of the city. The "belt-tightening" is contained in a proposal by Mayor Locke to submit to voters this fall a one-mill five-year levy.

The levy is needed for adequate operation of the fire and police departments, for playground supervision, for park maintenance, and for airport improvements. It deserves not only the serious consideration but the full support of every voter.

Next on the list of indications that Mansfield is a place of progress the water line improvement and paving of West Fourth street hold an important spot. Estimated at a cost of approximately $170,000 these joint projects are bound to net the city many times over the expenditure made for them. They will benefit not only property holders, merchants, and local motorists but they lie on a national highway which advertises the city to persons from all parts of the nation as they pass through it.

And finally, the spontaneous efforts of Mansfielders to solve the traffic problem in the city by organizing a citizens' traffic committee willing to add individual study to group co-operation sums up, as effectively as anything could, the progressive spirit we may be inclined to take for granted or to overlook in times when the will to destruction is making news in other parts of the world.

Artificial Prosperity

THIS is a blessed country, sure enough, compared with any other on earth just now. But for a long time it has suffered from two evils not existing in many countries that on the whole were much worse off. That is, a plague of idle money and a plague of idle men.

Now, under the stress of war preparations, the men are being absorbed in industry, and so is much of the money. This is some consolation for having to plunge again into rearmament against our natural inclinations. But it is a very roundabout and expensive substitute for natural processes of restoring prosperity. Real prosperity pays for itself and leaves a surplus; this artificial prosperity gives temporary relief in bursts with heavier debts and more interest to pay.

What we need, when the armament job is done, if we are saved from war, is some method of doing the job of making our American economy work, paying its way right along and leaving a surplus to reduce the public debt.

Mine Tragedy

ANOTHER [illegible] coal region shocks the [illegible] number of dead is more than 60.

The [illegible] always [illegible]. Anxious families crowding as close to the [illegible] as possible. Rescue crews working to the limit of their strength while women prepare food and coffee for them. Ambulances and doctors and investigators performing their various [illegible] tasks.

Coal mining remains one of man's hazardous occupation. In spite of [illegible] precautions and safety and health regulations there is still a great deal to be done. And always the hope rises that somehow, some time, [illegible] can be found surely to prevent such disasters.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Manhattan Melodrama:

Red Hook is an example of what happens when slum clearance becomes really effective. Red Hook is in Queens. It is a huge new housing project that provides thousands of bright, new, well-lit apartments, modern in every manner, for underprivileged families. You aren't eligible to live in Red Hook unless your income is less than $1,399 a year.

Among the hundreds of families who live in Red Hook is that of Papa Goldman. Papa Goldman is 67 years old. He is the head of the family and he has a wife and two sons. Papa Goldman's name is David.

One of Papa Goldman's neighbors and friends is a man named Joseph Guarino. One day recently Papa Goldman asked friend Joseph Guarino if he would do a little favor for him. He had an old radio, a baby carriage, and a crib, which he wanted delivered to the house of a friend of his. Would Joe drive them over?

Joe could and would.

* * *

AFTER the deliveries had been made Joe picked up a couple of extra fares and took them to where they wanted to go. Joe is a taxi-cab driver.

Then, for some reason, Joe happened to glance back into his cab, and what he saw almost caused him to have a head-on collision with a telephone pole. It was money . . . a package of money . . . great gobs of money in greenbacks. There were 1,500 one-dollar bills . . . there were four $500 bills . . . there were fives, tens, and twenties . . . In all, there was a fortune of $3,590.

Wherefore Joe drove straight to the police station and turned in his find. Then he drove home and told Papa Goldman what had happened.

When Papa Goldman heard this he almost had a fit. That was his money. The savings of a lifetime, he said . . . It belonged to him, and his wife, and his sons. . . . They had hidden it in the radio and forgot all about it.

But the police weren't willing to turn the money over to him. After all, Joseph had driven two women passengers between the time he had delivered the radio and found the money in the back of his cab.

They sent out a call for the women. They couldn't be found. Papa Goldman was an unhappy man. So was his son, Oscar.

* * *

JOE was there, too. When reporters questioned Joe about his part in the story, he told them he had suggested to Papa Goldman that maybe he should have a reward for calling the lost money to Papa's attention.

"If I get it back," said Papa Goldman, "I will give you ten dollars."

That made Joe laugh. "Imagine offering ten dollars reward for three thousand," he told the reporters.

What made it look blue for the Goldmans was the arrival of a woman. Not one of the women passengers.

"I'm from the New York City Housing Authority," she said. "If all this cash belongs to you, what were you doing living in a settlement restricted to people who lack money?"

What Papa's answer to this will be I don't know.

But I do know this. When they left court that night, Joe didn't drive them. And the money was still in the hands of the police.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, July 18, 1920.

Stories by Herschel S. Hall, of near Olivesburg, were issued in book form, entitled "Steel Preferred."

Mrs. Herman Muth was injured when sidecar of motorcycle was struck by automobile on Marion avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haag, Boughton avenue, returned from visit in Chicago.

Delegation from Mansfield went to Elyria to attend state convention of Eagles lodge.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, July 18, 1935.

Announcement was made that construction work would begin Aug. 1 on the $25,000 East Sixth street storm sewer.

G. W. O'Connor, of Joliet, Ill., was named manager of the W. T. Grant company here.

W. W. Ankenbrand, superintendent of public schools, was one of five considered for the Rockford, Ill., superintendency.

Hog prices soared to the highest mark in more than six years in Mansfield and vicinity.

French Canadians Remain Calm

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WHAT'S the French Canadians' reaction to the clash between the British and their ancestral country?

More than one-third of the Dominion's population is of French origin.

There's been considerable comment by our newspapers and by some of our statesmen to the effect that the crash of the shells fired during the naval battle off the Algerian coast can't but have unpleasant echoes from so large an element with such a background.

Canadians say this is a complete misjudgment.

As I've had occasion to remark before, there's a sizeable delegation of Canadian journalists in Washington at present, observing our attitude toward war developments, in which their empire's so deeply interested.

These guests are a unit in declaring that Britain and France can fight it out for as long as they please without stirring up a ripple so far as the Canadian French are concerned. They explain why very convincingly.

They're Royalists.

Canada's original French were mostly peasant stock. They settled in the New World well before the French revolution, especially in the days of Louis XIV, the "grand monarch." They always have remained dyed-in-the-wool royalists. They hate the French republic. They've no such inherited affection for their one-time homeland as the Anglo-Canadians feel for England. Or, if they have, it's for a long-dead France, prior to the era of Danton and Robespierre.

The Canadian newspaper boys don't contend that their French brethren are particularly enthusiastic for England. Still, their position seems to be that, for all they care, the English can go on shooting up modern French warships "ad libitum."

It's evident that the last thing the Franco-"Canucks" are is totalitarian. The general estimate is that about 90 per cent of them are extremely devout Catholics, who regard Stalin and Hitler as out-and-out enemies of their church, and who consider Mussolini not much better. About 10 per cent are said to be anti-Catholics, but they're not pro-totalitarians, either.

Intense Nationalists.

According to the Canadian newsmen's account the Canadian contingent on their side of the border are intense nationalists.

This means that they're Canadian nationalists.

They'd like to have a absolutely independent Canada, with its capital not at English-dominated Ottawa but at Frenchified Quebec. That is to say, Quebec is referred to as Canadianly Frenchified, not Frenchified in the sense of the late French republic.

It appears that this nationalistic group's ideal is a Canadian republic, which sounds a trifle inconsistent, considering how royalistic they're suppose to be. But I suppose they realize that they've got to be realistic, in this generation.

Note one thing, however—

They want to be friendly with us, of course. Maybe they would not mind joining the Pan-American Union—a very loose affiliation. But their demand's for a SEPARATE Canada.

Health and Diet

Why Blonds Get Freckles

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Will vinegar or olive oil on the skin hasten a quick tan and prevent peeling?

NOTHING will hasten tanning. Tanning is the mobilization of the pigment producing cells of the body reacting evenly to the stimulus of light.

The brunettes have more pigment than the blondes and therefore tan quicker and more painlessly. Blonds have less pigment and tan unevenly—freckles, and some blondes have no pigment at all to speak of, and burn and peel and redden and suffer over and over again.

There is no way to change these fundamental differences in skins: the pigmentless blonds should be protected from sunlight if they are to avoid reaction—and sometimes severe illnesses result from sunburn.

Vinegar evaporates in the sunlight and has no effect on tanning or peeling. Any non-volatile oil interferes to some extent with the absorption of light and therefore protects against sunburn and subsequent peeling. An oil with some dark pigment may filter light sufficiently to make tanning a slower and more even process, avoiding the unpleasant preliminary stage of burning.

Sensitivity to sunlight exists. It takes two forms. In one, hive reactions—itching and swelling occur at the point of contact. This comes on immediately and lasts a short time. In the other, there is itching, redness, secretion and scaling: it is a delayed reaction, becomes more pronounced the second day and lasts a week. Both types can be prevented with ultra-violet rays in doses just short of the amount that produces a reaction.

Is myopia due to a vitamin deficient diet?

This suggestion would seem to cause us to revise many of our present ideas about visual defects, but the evidence is reviewed with conviction by an experienced oculist of Kansas City, Dr. Hugh Miller. It is certainly not impossible because we know vitamin deficiency causes organic changes in the eye, particularly in the connective tissue which is the part involved in short-sightedness and astigmatism.

In questioning a large number of patients who had myopic visual defects, about their lifelong dietary habits, Dr. Miller found that fat was avoided by them, beginning in childhood and continuing into adult life. Vitamins A and D are fat soluble and Vitamin A is known to have effects on the eye, especially in forming the hard sclerotic parts of the eye. The Japanese are not meat eaters, which means fat eaters. Rice and soy beans are their staples, and it is estimated that one and a half pounds of meat to the individual annually is the average consumption of meat in Japan.

"Our greatest difficulty," said a Japanese flight-surgeon, "in getting pilots is neither mental nor emotional, but defective vision."

Animal experiments show that when fed on Vitamin-A-free diet, rats lose the normal contour of their corneas, and regain the normal contour when Vitamin A is added to the diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. M. E. "Please tell me if calcium can be taken in effect in liquid form. If not, what foods contain calcium?"

Answer: Calcium can be taken in the form of calcium gluconate, a harmless powder. The food which contains most calcium is milk. Most hard waters contain calcium.

Timely Editorial

Robert Wadlow Dies.

Robert Wadlow, the Alton, Ill., "giant," is dead at 22, a victim of his own abnormal size. Had he not been so over-proportioned that to support his weight he needed to wear metal braces on his ankles, the chafing and subsequent infection would not have occurred.

Wadlow must have been an indescribably lonely individual. His occasional bad temper and impatience with the attention he attracted ought not to be charged against him. His height of eight feet, 10 and three-tenths inches, his 491 pounds, his size 27 shoes set him apart from the ways of normal folk as effectually as anything could. He wanted to be a lawyer and wound up after several years of opposition to the idea of exhibiting himself as a "freak" attraction for fairs and other public gatherings.

His plight and his early death if they have any significance, prose that there are infinitely worse fates than to be average and commonplace, the desire against which so many of us [illegible].

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

CHICAGO—There is a world of difference between this Democratic convention and the one four years ago.

At Philadelphia in 1936 the Demos were exuberant, militant and confident. There had been some internal friction, but it was not serious, and on the wohle the party was excellently organized. But not so this year.

Three years of bitter factional war, purges and personal grudges have honeycombed all ranks with dissension and animosity. New Dealers hate the Old Guarders, who reciprocate with interest. And between the two groups there are numerous feuds and differences.

On top of all this, Willkie's nomination has scared them stiff.

They not only fear the dynamic GOP candidate as a campaigner, but even more the powerful backing behind his campaign. The Demos are going to be on short financial rations this year, which with all their other liabilities will make life doubly tough.

Hence the low state of morale at the convention. Some of the leaders are hopefully predicting that once the ticket has been launched and the National Committee reorganized, party spirit will revive. Whether this is mere whistling in the dark remains to be seen.

Note—Due for a big shakeup is the National Committee publicity department. Under kindly, brainy, weary Charley Michelson, this section has been in a comatose condition for two years.

In Old Chicago.

Seen and heard around Chicago: Mrs. Woodrow Wilson looking neither to right nor left as she gets into the elevator at the Blackstone. . . . Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada bowing to anyone wearing a broad-brimmed western hat. (Might be a voter from Nevada). . . . Ambassador Joe Davies without his wife, the former Marjorie Post Hutton. (Maybe she's for Willkie). . . . Brien McMahon of Connecticut, who left his new and beautiful wife behind at the beach. . . . Chip Robert, who did not leave his beautiful wife behind. . . . Mauve-eyed Lee Pressman, legal brains of John L. Lewis, waiting to see Harry Hopkins. . . . Handsome Donald Russell of South Carolina, wondering whether Cotton Ed Smith would bless the convention. . . . Helen Kennedy, comely daughter of United Mine Workers' Tom Kennedy. He once was Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania. . . . Erudite Leo Crowley of Wisconsin, who could have been chairman of the National Committee if he had not just become head of a utility corporation. (The Demos are going to have to do a lot of utility blasting against Willkie). . . . Harvey Couch of Arkansas, another utility magnate—but strong for Roosevelt. . . . Paul Fitzpatrick, new Democratic chairman of Buffalo, confident that Willkie cannot carry New York State. . . . Tom Corcoran and Ben Cohen, the famous Brain Trusters, nowhere to be seen.

* * *

Of the many amusing convention incidents, the most hilarious went almost unwitnessed. It was dapper, bald little Harry Woodring, ex-Secretary of War, at the rough, risque "Club 606."

Someone had tipped off the star singer of the evening that Harry was present. So with all her blond loveliness on exhibition, she placed herself opposite the ex-Secretary of War and proceeded to sing a gay version of "Military Man." Harry blushed, looked, and listened.

Note—Harry said that he got 700 letters even before he left Topeka praising his isolationist speech, in which he criticized the New Deal's interventionist policy. But he didn't seem very isolated at Chicago.

* * *

Along the Lake Front.

Jesse Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corporation has lent quite a bit of money to the Congress hotel, but he didn't try to improve his risk by giving them his patronage. Meanwhile the Congress is having rocky sledding. . . . No. 1 on the list to succeed Chip Robert as secretary of the Democratic National Convention is handsome, able Col. Edward J. S. Donovan of Buffalo. White House intimate (not to be confused with Col. "Wild Bill" Donovan, also of Buffalo.) Eddie Donovan has managed to stay on excellent relations with both the Farleyites and the Inner Circle.

* * *

Hatch Act at Chicago.

Several Washington jobholders at this convention are watching out of a corner of the eye the quiet gentleman from New Mexico who authored the Hatch act, Senator Carl Hatch. Not so Eugene Casey of Maryland, special assistant to the governor of the Farm Credit administration.

Casey got on the train from Washington to Chicago and bumped into a crowd of Democratic delegates, to whom he began to hand out red and blue buttons reading "Rally Round Roosevelt."

Joseph E. Davies, ex-Ambassador to Russia and Belgium, put one on his lapel, even pinned one on Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business and mouthpiece of the ardently anti-Roosevelt United States Chamber of Commerce. Senator Hatch, also present, watched Casey distribute the buttons, finally inquired: "What are those?"

"This is our patriotic duty, Senator," said Casey, pinning a button on him. "Our patriotic duty is to Rally Round Roosevelt in this time of international crisis and emeregncy. What else can we do? You couldn't possibly consider that a violation of the Hatch act?"

The author of the act did not scowl his disapproval. In fact, every time he met Casey around the convention, he accepted a new handful of "Rally Round Roosevelt" buttons.

Note — Anti-Roosevelt Merle Thorpe wore the "Rally Round Roosevelt" button all day. But when he appeared next morning it was gone.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio drew a big laugh from the platform committee, when he appeared to urge a compulsory training plank, with the remark, "Since I became an ex-congressman I've got close to the people. You have no idea how close you can get to the people after you've once been exed." . . . With vice presidential candidates almost as numerous as fleas on a dog, newsmen covering the convention decided to enter one of their own "in a spirit of levity." They are booming popular Bascom Timmons, who besides being correspondent for a number of papers also holds a proxy as delegate of his close friend Vice President Jack Garner. Timmons says the big handicap to his candidacy is that his proxy is worth only 1-12 of a vote, and he hasn't been able to get the other eleven delegates together to nail down the rest of the vote. . . . Pennsylvania Democrats already have a campaign slogan—"Don't Wilt With Willkie." . . . New Deal chiefs are making a big ado over John Anson Ford, Los Angeles county official, now being groomed to go after the scalp of isolationist Senator Hiram Johnson.

Appreciation

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

SINCE moving to this place, we have not ceased to hear of one short summer when a pair of beauty-loving owners lived here and worked upon it.

"She was always in her flower garden, morning and evening," the neighbors said. "And he used to like the pond. He dammed it in and stocked it with trout and lilies."

That was several years ago but this spring we were loath to dig or plow any part of the lawn until we saw what might appear.

Crocuses and hyacinths came first, lilies of the valley and daffodils. Rhubarb at the lawn edge, asparagus in the garden.

A plot marked off with stepping stones we left and watched for bulb flowers. Sure enough clicks of Oriental grass came up [illegible] "old man" and clematis. Sturdy clumps of clematis climbed, competing with the grass and waved above it. [illegible] by the road, they twined upon flower lovers who went before.

The sunflowers and the orange lilies. Perennial peas! I never knew before that they were so hardy or persistent.

Today I walked along the road and admired their burst of purple and white bloom among the sprays of tall sweet clover, like "lavender and old lace."

Roses, great clusters of pink climbers — upon the boundary fence of the ravine above the spring. Hollyhocks, red and pink and white in bloom at every corner. A row of bushes near the barn now red with berries, earlier pink and white with blossoms. Barberry along the porch. Clumps of iris among the rocks. Pond lilies opening their first waxy blooms today. A row of maples, dignified and grand. A wide-spread, rolling lawn — a rock-walled spring. Without these things our home would be only a small brown cottage on a stony slope, with little claim to beauty.

We are grateful to the friendly

TRAFFIC SQUAD SHOWS RESULTS IN POLICE TAGS

More Citations Issued In First 16 Days of July Than In Month of June.

The first 16 days of July saw more police traffic tickets issued than during the entire month of June, believed to be the results of the recently appointed four-man traffic squad.

There were 364 tickets given out the first 16 days of this month as compared to 314 for the month of June this year, and 256 given out during July of last year.

The traffic toll in cash for the month will run considerably higher, police believe, since more $3 tickets have been given out for such violations as crashing red lights and for having more than three in a front seat.

The pick-up in traffic tickets and fines on tickets came about after Police Chief Meade K Bates set up a four man traffic squad early this month.

Reports for the first six months of this year show that there were two less tickets issued than for the same period in 1939 The number of tickets issued last year was 2,054 with $2,148 paid in, while the first six months of this year saw 2,052 traffic tickets issued and $2,167 paid in.

ALL PRECEDENT TOSSED ASIDE BY DEMOCRATS

Roosevelt's Re-Nomination Is Made Unanimous When Rivals Withdraw.

ences preceding the final decision.

(Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee, formerly was a Democrat and supported Mr Roosevelt in 1932.)

The selection of Wallace in effect paralleled the Republican nomination of Senator McNary of Oregon for the vice presidency Both are well known in the agricultural areas.

Vice President Garner, who twice has been Mr. Roosevelt's running mate, was generally believed to be out of the picture after a statement by E. B Germany, manager of Garner's presidential campaign, to a caucus of Texas delegates

Germany told the delegation he did not think that Garner would "seek the nomination to succeed himself."

This boosted the stock of Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, and House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, both of whom are Texans. Reports persisted that Postmaster General James A. Farley, who made an unsuccessful bid for the presidential nomination, might place Jones' name before the convention.

Some well-informed delegates predicted, however, that Mr. Roosevelt might support Secretary of State Hull or Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas if he took any part in the choice.

James H. R. Cromwell of New Jersey, former minister to Canada, said he was certain that the choice would be Hull if he could be induced to accept the nomination.

Rep. Gore (D.-Tenn.) said after a telephone conversation with Hull, however, that the secretary had asked that "his name not be used in connection with any political recognition by the Democratic convention." Friends of Hull viewed this as an unconditional refusal to accept.

Senator Byrnes (D., S. C.), one of the Roosevelt leaders at the convention, said the vice presidential race was still "up in the air."

The convention started its history-making session last night in a staid and traditional manner. Delegates stirred and talked in the same old way while Sen. Robert Wagner of New York read the platform.

He elicited applause when he read sections praising President Roosevelt and approving the legislation enacted under the New Deal, promising a continuance of its principles. He got another rise out of the foreign affairs section, which said:

"We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside the Americas, except in case of attack. We favor and shall rigorously enforce the Monroe doctrine."

Rep. Elmer Ryan of Minnesota got the first sample of the convention mood a moment later. He offered a resolution opposing a third term, but the last words were drowned in a storm of "boos."

Some "ayes" were heard when the question of adoption was put, but they were instantly smothered in a tumult of "noes." The platform itself was adopted with a roar.

These preliminaries cleared away, the convention dived straight into the business of nominating a presidential candidate. The Roosevelt name was dropped in at the outset of a state by state roll call.

"Alabama" the clerk shouted Sen. Lister Hill climbed through the crowd to the speaker's stand

"If America is to survive," he said, "we must now give the best that there is in us and in the cause of freedom and law and justice I place in nomination that valiant American, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Hill stepped back and the stadium floor became a mass of yelling dancing shouting, pushing delegates Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, waving aloft an uprooted stalk of green corn leaped through the aisles with the rest of the Iowa delegation

Women were borne aloft on men's shoulders, waving banners. Horns and bells added to the bedlam The organ and band from high up in the second balcony added to the uproar. Atty. Gen. Jim Farley ordered the roll of states to continue

Arizona yielded to Virginia on the Speaker's desk Sen. Glass proposed the nomination of James A. Farley. His name was [illegible] and he apparently stood up [illegible] siderable effort

"Through service of this great party itself for its perpetuity, I have come from a sick bed to present to this convention the name of a great American, James A. Farley," Glass said.

Glass called Farley "a man who believes in the unwritten law of the traditions of the Democratic party that have prevailed since the day of Thomas Jefferson [illegible] less than three years before [illegible] seek appealed to the party to [illegible] established never to nominate [illegible] for a third term."

There were boos from the gallery, but a moment later [illegible] were cheers when Glass said:

"Since I have been sitting on this platform I have had two anonymous communications objecting to Jim Farley because he's a Catholic. It made me more determined to nominate Farley."

The Massachusetts standard was yanked out of its socket, and another parade started The organ boomed out "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Several other states joined in But the demonstration was short-lived.

Down the roll the clerk went Gov. Culbert Olson of California Sen. Francis Mahoney of Connecticut, Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, Sen Herbert Lehman of New York seconded the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt.

No more seconding speeches for the president were permissible under the rule, but the chairmen of many state delegations including Charles Sawyer of Ohio announced support of Mr. Roosevelt.

Maryland presented the name of Sen. Millard E. Tydings. But the crowd was getting impatient and Edward J Colgan Jr., of Baltimore, was interrupted by shouts of "Name him—Name him"

Massachusetts produced Patrick J Doyle to second Farley's nomination, but a challenge came as soon as he sat down. William H Barker said that he and three other Massachusetts delegates had been sent to vote for Mr Roosevelt

A great cheer went up when Montana seconded the Roosevelt nomination. Sen. Burton K. Wheeler had himself been a candidate, and decided only yesterday to keep his name out of nomination.

Vice President Garner's name was the last to be put up Wright Morrow, a Houston lawyer and an old friend, proposed his nomination in a speech that was interrupted frequently by yells

But Morrow clinched the edge of the reading stand and held his ground Texans piled out of their section and paraded with a cowboy band when he finished Rep Sam Rayburn, the house majority leader, was among the paraders.

The brief demonstration finished the rest of the roll call was hurried through, and the voting started The Roosevelt nomination went over midway of the roll call the big block from New York being enough to put his total above the necessary 551 majority

Farley already was going to the front of the platform before the result was announced Barkley presented him to the delegates, most of whom knew [illegible] personally They yelled and cheered with hoarse throats

"I am grateful to the delegates of this convention who voted for me and to those delegates who would have voted for me if they had not been otherwise pledged," Farley said, smiling.

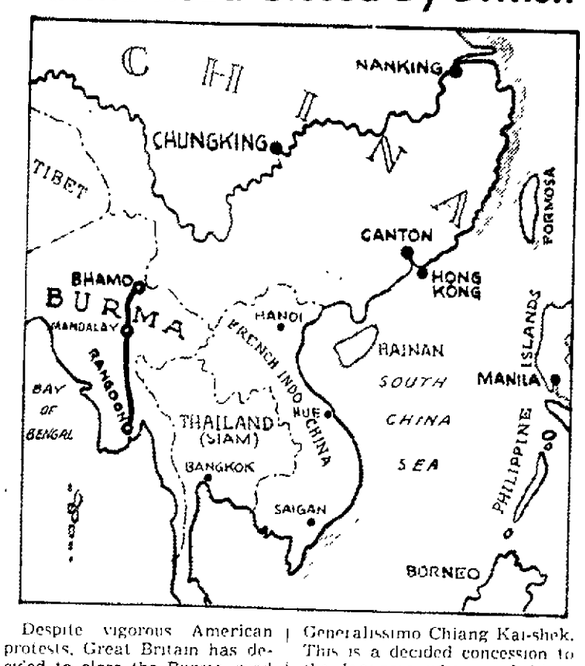
Burma Road Closed By British



Despite vigorous American protests, Great Britain has decided to close the Burma road over which a great deal of supplies has been obtained by the embattled Chinese forces under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. This is a decided concession to the Japanese who are fighting Chiang's forces. The great Burma road extends from Rangoon to Mandalay to Bhamo

Seventeen cases of house breakings had previously been reported in the past two weeks. In most instances, police said, entry was gained by prying open the screen or windows. In the majority of cases, however, doors and windows had been left unlocked.

Meanwhile Harold Adams, 38 Marion avenue, reported the theft of a $15 camera from his car, looted while in the garage at his home.

Lewis Oyster Bellville, told police that his automobile was looted while parked on East Third street between North Main and North Diamond street yesterday. A $30 watch was taken, he said.

ty patients in private sanitariums in other sections of the state. Ten patients will be left in the state sanitarium at Mt Vernon, however, because the charge there is only $20 a month

Seven of the 21 patients who will be placed in the Eleanor Thomas sanitarium will be brought here from the Oak Ridge sanitarium at Green Springs, six each from the Edwin Shaw sanitarium at Akron and the Avon sanitarium at Mt. Vernon, and two from the Rocky Glen sanitarium at McConnellsville.

The county will send ambulances for the patients who are not able to ride in automobiles and cars for the others.

Cost of the county's T. B. program for the next five years will be paid from the proceeds from a half-mill levy which produces $45,000 a year.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe pointed out that about $28,500 of this year's proceeds has already been spent including $13,500 for back bills and $15,000 for keeping patients in other institutions during the first half of the year.

Development of McCready's addition a subdivision laid out and accepted by the city planning commission five years ago was under way today

The subdivision includes approximately 10 acres on the south side of Cline avenue, between Marion avenue and Gadfield road.

Although several homes have already been built on one end of the allotment, E. W. McCready, the owner, said today, that three streets were being cut through the allotment for the purpose of making lots at the rear of Cline avenue more attractive for sale.

Development of the streets will include Berlyn court and Gerald avenue running south from Cline avenue and Broadview avenue, south of Cline and connecting Gadfield road and Gerald avenue. None of the streets has yet been dedicated by the city bralter must become Spanish once more and that Spain has "2,000,000 soldiers ready to face anyone and to support Spain's rights."

On the political front, Britons expressed satisfaction in the nomination of President Roosevelt as the Democratic party's candidate for a third term.

The London Daily Telegraph, for example, declared:

"Whatever the outcome of the November election, the president of the United States will be a vigorous leader who realizes that the liberties of the world are threatened, knows that we are fighting their battle, and desires to help us by every means. . . ."

In the Orient, Japan's new premier-designate, Prince Fumimaro Konoye, named a nucleus of expansionists to his inner cabinet—including two men who have recently attacked the United States for unwillingness to recognize Japan's "new order" in the Far East.

The 48-year-old prince with totalitarian ideas seated.

Yosuke Matsuoka, who took the Japanese delegation out of the League of Nations over the Manchurian policy, as foreign minister. Matsuoka was educated in Oregon and California.

Lieut. Gen. Eiki Tojo, military aviation who once declared "Japan must be prepared to fight China and Russia simultaneously," as minister of war.

And Zengo Yoshida, as minister of navy; to continue the post he held in the fallen goverment of Premier Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai

Other cabinet appointments will be made later

Britain underwent further air raids during the night and announced that Italian bombers damaged an unidentified British cruiser last week in the Mediterranean

The admiralty said there were casualties on the cruiser, but her fighting ability was not impaired. Loss of the 1,359-ton cargo ship City of Limerick in an air attack Monday also was announced.

The government announced the night raids caused "some casualties, a few of which were fatal." King George VI visited the bombed section yesterday, but it was not disclosed whether he was there at the time of the raids.

In Spain where today marked the fourth anniversary of the outbreak of the Spanish civil war, Generalissimo Franco said it was the "duty and mission" of his regime, which won the civil war, to realize the historic aims of Queen Isabella—to make Gibraltar again Spanish, to expand in Africa and to conserve the national unity.

Chile, with whom Spain broke diplomatic relations Tuesday in a sequel to a dispute stemming from shelter given Spanish Republicans against Franco's Nationalists in the civil war, lashed back by calling Franco's government "usurpers."

Britain Confident Of Stopping Hitler

LONDON — (U P) —Great Britain's fighting services, army, navy and air force, are confident that they can repel a German invasion and turn it into a disaster for Adolf Hitler

Less than two weeks remained today for Hitler to make good the prediction he was reported to have made to United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles in the spring, that the war would be over by July.

As yet there was no sign that the invasion was actually near, but the entire country is being transformed into an island fortress.

In the opinion of neutral air attaches the equipment of the air force is definitely superior in quality to Germany's These experts say that Britain's Spitfires and Hurricanes particularly are much better than German Messerschmidts and have shown their deadly effectiveness against both fighters and bombers

Another asset of the Royal Air Force in the opinion of these attaches is the spirit of British fliers

Admittedly, the Royal Air Force is still inferior in numbers to Germany's But increased production and rising imports from the United States are supposed to be helping to narrow the gap Viscount Beaverbrook airplane production minister, said recently that production was double that of a year ago Figures are secret but before the war estimates of production were about 300 planes a month

The British navy is recognized as superior to the combined Italian and German navies Its superiority in capital ships enables it to keep the German fleet bottled up in the North sea and at the same time to concentrate in the Mediterranean a force superior to Italy's Britain has 1,500,000 troops under arms and in the British Isles, more than at any time in its history Behind them stand more than 1,000,000 parashots, not fully trained or armed yet but ready to take over guard duties There are also 1,500,000 men and women in the air raid, emergency fire corps, stretcher and ambulance driver services There are 2,000,000 men awaiting a call to duty after having been registered for military service. There are some seasoned French and Polish troops, some Czech, Dutch and Norwegian troops.

Churchill Defends Accord With Japan

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill defended today Great Britain's accord with Japan closing the Burma road, asserting that Britain must be moved "by the dominant fact that we are engaged in a life and death struggle."

Great Britain is not unmindful of her obligations to China, he told the house of commons, but she must, in view of her present struggle have regard for the present world situation.

The prime minister made the first formal British disclosure of the accord which provides not only for closing the Burma road but also accedes to Japan's request to stop war materials and "certain other goods" from reaching China via Hongkong. British crown colony.

Tokyo announced the agreement yesterday.

France Friendly To United States

VICHY, France —(AP)— France will continue her "traditional friendship" with the United States, Foreign Minister Paul Baudoin declared today in a published statement.

However, he added, France's foreign policy for the present must be one of "hypothesis."

Until a final peace treaty is signed with Germany and Italy, the statement went on, the relations of the Petain government with the axis powers will be limited to contacts by armistice commissions.

Declaring England had severed the last bonds linking her with France, Baudoin said "henceforth we are free to take our decisions as regards her; France will reply blow for blow to each of her aggressions."

E. E. GEISINGER DIES AT AGE 79

SHELBY — Elmer E. Geisinger, 79, life-resident of nearby Ganges and vicinity, died yesterday after a long illness.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Mellick of Ganges, a son, E. C. Geisinger, of Shiloh, one grandson, one great-grandson, and a brother, David of Ganges.

He was a member of the Ganges Reformed church where funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m., conducted by the pastor, Rev Frank Zartman. Burial will be in Ganges mausoleum.

CLAIMS FRENCH FOOLED SELVES BUT NOT NAZIS

months of idleness between the outbreak of war last September, to the start of the great German offensive May 10, virtually nothing of a serious nature was done to fortify this region. This despite the fact that the French intelligence never expected the Germans to break their heads against the Maginot line, and in face of the conviction by the Deuxieme bureau and every foreign military observer that when the big push came it would be through Belgium and down on France from Belgium

As long ago as last September 22, I wrote from Paris, on the basis of what I had seen on my first trip to the front, and on information I had received from military experts:

"When the German invasion comes, it will be via Holland and Belgium. . . They won't attack in the west on the Maginot line . . ."

During the last two weeks of February, I drove from Dunkirk to Montmedy and was astounded to find that there was no Maginot line along the frontier as I had always been led to believe. There were a few small concrete blockhouses and a bit of newly made and rather futile anti-tank defenses. That was all

But to my growing astonishment—I thought I must be dreaming—I saw that the one cannon in the place was an ancient 75 millimeter field piece on wheels. Its muzzle stuck out an opening. There were blocks of wood behind the wheels. He sensed my amazement.

"That is just there temporarily," he said. "We will have a regular anti-tank gun fitted into the aperture and on tracks the same as in the Maginot forts one of these days. Meantime, that will do. They are wonderful guns, those old 75's."

A young second lieutenant who was attached to the blockhouse seemed to be wearing a faint smile. I got him aside a few minutes later and said:

"Have you ever fired that relic?"

"Of course not," he replied. "You know as well as I do that if we ever fired it, the gun would jump right out of the fort."

If a French journalist had ever bared the myth of the Maginot line from the "Alps to the Sea," it probably would have meant prison. I confess I didn't know what it all meant at the time, nor did the English correspondent with me

We felt there must have been some deep reason for the lack of defensive work there during the winter and accepted the off-the-record explanation that there was no intention of defending here anyway; that when the invasion of Belgium started the Allies would move in to meet it and that the Germans would be engaged and checked on a line in Belgium. The presence of the star French generals and the best offensive armies, the tank groups and motorized divisions along the Belgian frontier tended to confirm this, as did the later events.

But why was an antiquated high command which sat in a dream world behind a half completed defense system, permitted to remain all those months until disaster had overwhelmed the army and the nation? I won't attempt to explain why, because I don't know.

But I can reveal that in the first weeks of the war, I was told by young officers of the general staff, whom I had known long before the war started, that they were praying for a German offensive soon because a "shock" was needed to shake out the bigger part of France's 400-odd generals.

A brilliant captain told me in October:

"If we go through the winter without fighting, we are sunk."

In the next chapter I will report the reasons he gave for that prophecy which worked out with such tragic accuracy, and also of the desperate but vain efforts of a thoroughly alarmed Paul Reynaud to get rid of Commander-in-Chief Gamelin before the debacle came.

RAZE HOUSES

Aged Ohioans Give Proof They Can Still Work.

CONNEAUT, O. (UP) C. E Lincoln, 81, and C. I Pease who is 81, are perhaps the oldest house-wreckers in the country.

The two men, eager to do some manual labor, finally convinced Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pease that they were the logical ones to tear down a house belonging to the couple.

"We can't take it quite as well as we used to, but we still can put in a good full day's work," Lincoln said. "Our muscles sort of complain in the morning, but we're good once we get into action!"

Pease is particularly determined to stick to the hazardous job until it is finished. While working on the roof, the old boards collapsed and he fell through ceiling plaster and down a flight of steps. But the old man rose to his feet, dusted his clothes, adjusted his hat and went back to work.

U. S. Plans Training of 'Chute Troops

TEST PLATOON ORGANIZED AT FORT BENNING

Contract Awarded duPont For Operation of Powder Plant at Louisville, Ky.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— An experiment in the training of parachute troops such as Germany and Russia have used in the European war was announced by the war department today.

For the first time, the department said, a test parachute platoon of two officers and 48 men has been organized and will be given trainin, July 29 through Aug. 3.

Secretary Stimson said that Major General G. A. Lynch had organized the platoon at Fort Benning, Ga., and that facilities of the Safe Parachute company, at Hightstown, N. J., near Fort Dix, would be used for training.

The platoon will use towers and other equipment of the civilian company, which will lend its instructors. The troops will wear the air corps uniform which is similar to overall suits.

The war department, looking to an adequate supply of ammunition for the army has contracted for a $25,000,000 smokeless powder plant which will more than triple the nation's existing output.

Announcement of the contract signing yesterday coincided with the assertion of Secretary of War Stimson that unless compulsory military service was instituted, the defense outlook would be "very dark."

Congress has voted billions for military material, he told preparedness advocates from 42 states, but nothing has been done to supply the manpower necessary to use that equipment.

"There is no way by which those men can be obtained," he declared, "except by a selective service act somewhat similar to that we had 23 years ago."

The contract for the powder plant, to be located in the Louisville, Ky., industrial area, was signed with the E. I. Dupont De Nemours and Company. The plant will be owned by the federal government but will be built and operated by Dupont on a fixed fee basis.

On a normal operating basis, it is expected to produce 60,000,000 pounds a year, compared with the 25,000,000 annual output of the army's Picatinny, N. J., arsenal and commercial plants.

Under tentative war department plans, three other powder plants are projected for the middle west. Officials rated the shortage in the supply of smokeless powder one of the most serious weaknesses of the defense preparations.

In the World war American capacity was stepped up to a billion pounds a year. The country's small annual present output would be shot away in a single day of an offensive like the World war St. Mihiel or Meuse battles, ordnance experts estimated.

MEETING OFF

Conference on Improvement of Airport Delayed.

A meeting of National Youth administration, city and state officials with officers of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association to complete plans for a $40,000 improvement program at the municipal airport was postponed today.

Through some "misunderstanding," city officials said, the meeting had been announced for today. It will be held next Tuesday instead.

NYA officials in Norwalk have asked for the session to complete plans for extensive improvements at the airfield that will provide approximately 100 Richland county youths between the ages of 18 and 25 with employment for a year.

The proposal calls for lengthening and resodding the runways, construction of an administration building and the development of a state roadside park on the route 13 frontage.

HARTMAN RITES

Services Held Tuesday For North Fairfield Woman.

NORTH FAIRFIELD—Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the North Fairfield Methodist church for Miss Tressie J. Hartman, 48, who died Sunday at her home here.

She is survived by five brothers, S. D. Hartman, North Fairfield, S. C. Hartman, Athens, Rev. G. E. Hartman, Arnold, Nebraska, Walter Hartman, Fitchville, and Leo C. Hartman, Mansfield; and two sisters, Mrs. Elmer Brown, North Fairfield and Mrs. H. B. Cummins, Bristolville.

With the exception of seven years when she served as a nurse in the office of a Mansfield physician, Miss Hartman had spent her entire life in this vicinity.

Rev. P. J. Garcia, Norwalk, officiated at the last rites and interment was in Fitchville cemetery.

Flying Lessons For 15 Ashland Pupils Started

ASHLAND—Today, at the Ashland airport was scheduled to start the flying instructions for the 15 pupils enrolled in the Civil Aeronatics Authority vocational flight training program offered by Ashland college in cooperation with the United States government.

The ground course for the program has already been in force for the past two weeks, and the instruction in flying is scheduled to be terminated at the same time, about 20 days hence.

The training of the enrolles will be under the supervision of Walter Shuey, manager of the Ashland airport, CAA instructor here. Each pupil will have about 35 minutes of instructions in the air per day until the course is completed.

GAIN SHOWN

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio employers participating in workmen's compensation numbered 52,905 July 1, an increase of 5,081 since Jan. 1, a report by Don W. Wiper, state industrial commission secretary, showed today. He attributed the gain mainly to "compliance with the law."

SEVEN MORE MOTORISTS FACE CHARGES OF UNSAFE DRIVING

Five motorists, arrested by state highway patrolmen and city police on traffic violations, were arraigned yesterday in Richland and Ashland county courts, while two others are to be arraigned on similar charges today and tomorrow.

James Alex of Cleveland and William Elliott, Hickory, Ky., were found guilty on charges of unsafe driving when arraigned yesterday before Justice of Peace R. R. Teeter of Ashland. Alex was fined $5 and costs and Elliott $10 and costs. Both were arrested near Ashland by highway patrolmen.

Arrested at the junction of routes 250 and 224 in Ashland county by highway patrolmen, Wayne Montgomery of New Philadelphia was fined $1 and costs when arraigned before Mayor T. M. Henderson of Savannah on charges of failure to stop for a stop sign.

Wayne Taylor, 66 Parkwood boulevard, Mansfield, was fined $5 and costs when arraigned yesterday before Justice Teeter of Ashland on charges of unsafe driving. He was arrested near Ashland Tuesday by highway patrolmen.

John E. Harfman, R. D. 4, was fined $5 and costs in municipal court this morning when arraigned on charges of operating a motorcycle without a muffler. He was arrested on Wayne street by city police.

Scheduled for arraignment today and tomorrow are Frank Bogner, 258 Ohio street, Mansfield, and Robert Brothers, R. D. 1, Plymouth. Bogner will be arraigned in municipal court Friday morning on charges of failing to stop for a stop sign, south of Mansfield on route 42, and Brothers is to be arraigned this afternoon before the mayor of Plymouth on unsafe driving charges. He was arrested by patrolmen last night at the junction of routes 61 and 224 in Huron county, near New Haven.

DIES PROBERS TURN TO BUND

Hollywood Contributors to Communists Listed.

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)— The Dies committee, investigating the Kyffhauser bund, went into session here today after Chairman Martin Dies concluded a two-day hearing at Beaumont into Communist activities on the west coast.

John L. Leech, former Los Angeles Communist organizer, gave the committee a list of 42 Hollywood moving picture personalities who had allegedly contributed from $1,200 to $1,500 a month to the Communist party. Leech said many contributors had stopped paying since 1937, when he quit as director of the Communist party's financial activities in Los Angeles county after having served two years.

40-PLUS CLUB AIDS JOB HUNT

Drive Launched to Place 'White-Collar' Men Back to Work.

DENVER—(INS)—In a drive to place "white collar" workers over forty back into private employment, more than 25 per cent of the members of a newly organized 'Forty Plus Club of Colorado' organization found jobs during the first month of the group's campaign

The "Forty Plus" idea is nationwide and accepts as members only men over forty, who can prove that they have formerly earned at least $3,000 a year, and are capable of holding similar jobs now.

Each man's application for membership is closely checked, and many applications have been refused

Once an applicant has been accepted he must agree to spend five days a week contacting local business men in an effort to find out just what jobs are available If it happens that the individual applicant is not suited for some position that is open the files of the membership are searched in effort to find the right man for the job If the man can't be found in Denver, then the files of some 33 other branches of the organization throughout the country are available

There is no cost to either the employe, or the employer for the service

Denver employers are said to have reacted enthusiastically to the plan and to have agreed to cooperate

THE PURE OIL PURE COMPANY, U.S.A.

Why Should You "Be Sure With Pure"?

Woman A lot of people tell me all gasoline is about alike

Pure Oil Dealer That's where they're wrong Mrs R. Our new Solvenized* Pure-Pep has an extra chemical combination in it to help keep excess carbon out of your motor And if the gasoline you buy doesn't give you this chemical extra you're not getting your money's worth.

Twenty-five years in the oil business — and you learn a lot about gasoline, just as Westinghouse learns about ranges and Ohio Brass learns about electrical equipment. And for the same reasons that women choose Westinghouse and purchasing agents look to Ohio Brass, value-wise motorists here in Mansfield make it a point to stop at Pure Oil dealer stations. They get first-quality petroleum products and a sincere, personal interest in their cars. It adds up to more miles of transportation for the money they spend on gas. If that's what you want, too, better start bringing your car around regularly.

MANSFIELDERS OFF FOR VACATION SPOTS

Residents Head East, to Michigan, Canada for Holidays; National Sorority Convention Attracts Trio.

MANSFIELDERS apparently are spending most of their time in transit these days as the vacation season has now reached its peak and everyone is headed by motor, boat or train for distant play spots or recreational centers close at hand. Those who are unable to get away for long holidays find pleasure in week-end trips to cool lake resorts or nearby points of interest.

Mrs. Walter C. Becker, Andover road, returned to Chicago, Ill., Sunday with her son Jack, while the Frank Cipris just left on a motor trip east with New York City as their principal destination.

The A. C. Frosts of Linden road, and their daughter Judy, are vacationing in New Jersey where they are visiting relatives. Mr. Frost is manager of the Kresge Dollar store. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Evans, 530 West Townview circle, are spending a couple of weeks in North Canton visiting Mrs. Evans' mother, Mrs. Salinda Willaman.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schmutzler and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stutz have just returned from a trip through Canada.

Leaving this week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Murray D. Shafer for a vacation in northern Michigan.

* * *

The Misses Mary Elizabeth Miller, delegate, Mary Garver, alternate, and Marjorie Rhodes entrained last night for Washington, D. C., where they will attend the national convention of Chi Sigma, philanthropic and social sorority. The conclave, which includes business sessions, a party and banquet, will last over the week-end.

* * *

Mrs. Charles Farry, 101 Stewart avenue, and her daughters, Ro-Ann, Jane and Judith Bell have just returned from several weeks vacationing at London, O., and Rochester, Ind. At London Mrs. Farry visited her parents, Judge and Mrs. James Bell, and in Rochester she and the children were the guests of her husband's mother, Mrs. A. O. Farry.

* * *

Mr and Mrs. J. E. Brooks and grandchildren, Beverly and Gene, Hoquiam, Wash., are visiting Mr. Brook's sister, Mrs. E. M. Tinkey, 200 Boland road.

* * *

R. W. Hartman and daughters, Katherine and Martha, 561 Park avenue west, left today for a three week tour of the Canadian Rockies. They are driving up through the Dakotas, and will visit Banff and Lake Louise, and return by train.

ENJOY SUPPER.

Eighteen members of the Good Cheer Circle of the South Main Street Evangelical church met for a picnic supper Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Wolf, Abbeyfeale road. During the evening a routine business session was held in charge of Mrs. Ruth Minard, president. Later piano selections were played by Mrs. Vera Hughes. Assisting Mrs. Wolf with the supper arrangements were Mrs. Shumaker and Mrs. Doris Robinson. The next meeting will be held Aug. 14 at the church.

Four Generations Present At Function

Four generations were represented this afternoon at the party celebrating the fifth birthday of Maryalice Murphy, daughter of Mrs. Laura Murphy, 32 East Second street. The party, at which ten children were guests, was given by Maryalice's grandmother, Mrs. George Boyce, Amoy road. Guests of honor were the child's great grandparents, Ma. and Mrs. John Bradley, Chesrown road.

Contests were the diversion of the afternoon, and pink and white appointments were used on the table when refreshments were served. Those present were Henry and James Bradley, Roger Pifer, Sally Joyce Culler, Eileen and Donald Boyce, Martha and Ray Clark and Ruth Feaster.

Mrs. Perry Hostess to District at Her Home

Mrs. Hugh Perry, Ashland road, was hostess at the regular meeting of the Second District of the First Lutheran church yesterday. Mrs. Harry Downs of the Children's home was the guest speaker, and Mrs. E. W. McCready gave a reading. Refreshments were served.

Plans were made to hold the annual picnic Aug. 21 with Mrs. Clyde Hout, Mrs. S. D. Hoover and Mrs. Laura Myers serving as hostesses.

* * *

PRESENTS STUDENTS.

Miss Florence MacDonald presented an informal recital last night at the Women's Club before a capacity audience. Vocal selections were given by Mrs. Retta Bonar, Mrs. Rachel Shreffler, Joan Turner, Emerson Bletz, Eugene Almy and John Taylor. Miss MacDonald, voice teacher, is a member of the Cleveland chapter of the Ohio Academy of Teachers of Singing.

* * *

ENTERTAINS CLUB.

There were two tables of cards in play yesterday when Mrs. Ray Daugherty entertained at her home on the West Fourth street road. Mrs. Joseph Distl, Mrs. Harold Garn and Mrs. Edward Longsdorf were the prize winners. Mrs. Garn also received the traveling prize. Luncheon was served at the small tables. Mrs. Lee Bartlett, 26 Raleigh avenue, will entertain on July 31.

* * *

CHANGE PLACE.

Members of the Linnaeus Garden club will meet July 23 with Mrs. H. M. Armstrong, 30 Penn avenue, instead of with Mrs. Clifford Sherrard, 811 Andover road, as was originally announced.

Clothes Important to Sub-Deb Daughters

Sub-debs who are just stepping out for the first time during the summer months, are more clothes conscious than their mothers or sisters. Their wardrobes are very important, then, and should be chosen with care. At the left above Maureen O'Hara is wearing a daytime costume in peasant effect. The skirt, suspender and handbag are made of moss green linen, and the silk blouse has a "wild west" pattern printed in white and red on a matching green ground. Center, she is shown in a pinafore motif play suit with ruffled halter and fitted shorts made of white sharkskin. Kathryn Adams is modeling an aquamarine souffle evening frock, the bodice having a wrapped effect from low waistline to shoulders, the filmy sleeves gathered at the shoulders and hanging free. The fullness of the skirt is emphasized by a deep gathered flounce.

Four Friends Give Shower to Fete Miss Nanich, Bride-Elect

UNUSUAL in shower parties was the progressive affair which honored Miss Ann Nanich last night. Mrs. E. M. Benson welcomed 30 guests to her home, 325 Reed street, where a bride's book was made, and later in the evening the group motored to the home of Mrs. Harry Knoxer, 551 Springmill street, where a shower of Fostoria glass was presented to the honoree, and luncheon was served.

The guests were seated at two long tables which were decorated in a delightful manner. Down through the center of each table the words "sea of matrimony" were written in roses and larkspur, and a large white flower boat with a blue cellophane sail representing happiness centered each table. Boats of pink and blue flowers marked either end, and the bridal couple and bridal party were on these floral boats. Miniature boats, which were really ash trays, marked each place, and were presented to all the guests as favors.

Associate hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Wesley Runk and Miss Edith Benson. Mrs. Runk and her daughter, Carol Lynn, Cincinnati, were out-o-f-town guests.

Miss Nanich will become the bride of Paul Dick Etzwiler Aug. 24 before the altar of St. Mark's Lutheran church. The closed ceremony will be read at 2:30 p. m.

* * *

Mrs. Florence Faber spent Sunday with Mrs. Grace Hissong.

Children learn far more from example than from being told what to do and what not to do. A well-groomed attractive mother is the best kind of incentive to soap and water cleanliness and makes an impression that the children will never forget.

A new featherweight girdle that flexes with every muscle and feels like your own skin is ideal for wear under evening clothes, play togs, and bathing suits. Whisk it through soapsuds after every wearing, pat it dry with a towel, and it's always fresh.

President Gives Conclave Report, Plan Two Picnics

Full ritualistic work was conducted Wednesday when members of the Auxiliary No. 100, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war met at the Memorial building with Mrs. Hazel Brannon in charge. Mrs. Brannon, president, reported on the recent patriotic convention, and read General Orders No. 1.

An invitation to attend a district picnic at Wooster, Sunday, was accepted, and the group planned to hold a family picnic July 31 with Mrs. Brannon, Mrs. Pearl Pollock and Mrs. Edith Snyder in charge. The next regular meeting will be Aug. 7.

A social hour followed last night's session with Mrs. Treva Campbell, Mrs. Catherine Pfeifer and Mrs. Sydney White in charge. Hearts were played, and Mrs. A. J. McHugh was recipient of the high score prize.

Post-Nuptial Affair Honors Mrs. Boyce

Mrs. Arthur Boyce, the former Miss Leota Pittenger, was feted last night at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Thomas Holmes, R. D. 2, and Mrs. Albert Pittenger, Pavonia, at the former's home. Games were played by the 19 guests, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Colison Holmes, Miss Marvena Hershey and Mrs. Eddie Butenschon.

The table was set with a bright red luncheon cloth and crystal service. A centerpiece of white hydrangeas was used, and a mammy doll with a note pinned to her dress directed the honoree to the hiding places of her gifts. Mrs. Boyce received a gift of china from the hostesses.

* * *

ALL PRESENT.

All members of the Chrysanthemum club enjoyed a dinner party at the Colonial Guest House Wednesday evening with Mrs. T. J. Metcalf and Mrs. Robert Warne as hostesses. The group was seated at one long table which was attractive with mixed garden flowers in dainty bouquets. During the evening the diversion was pinochle with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Herman Wentz, Mrs. Howard Ruby, Mrs. George Bell and Mrs. Alex Grassick. The next meeting will be held Aug. 15 at the home of Mrs. Clark Pittman, Rowland avenue.

Treat Hair Kindly

By MME. QUI VIVE

Many a woman of sunny disposition and gentle nature tears her hair. Just an everyday custom with her. Curly ends are snarly, so she rakes through them with the comb, breaking the delicate shafts. Too bad they can't snarl back, say what they think about her.

Every beauty shop operator who shampoos feminine locks and arranges them in fascinating undulations has come in contact with the impatient customer who, after the permanent wave, insists upon using the comb herself. Can't wait for a slow safe process of untangling. She yanks her poor hair out by the roots.

When the hair is tangled it should be divided into strands, each strand combed first at the ends. First the wide-toothed comb should be used, then one with finer teeth. The brush doesn't do much. All right when there are no snarls to combat. The purpose of the brushing is to groom, put on the glamorous shimmer and glint.

Hair responds to gentle care. Many a noble house dog gets better attention for his coat than his mistress gives to her brain wool. Why be mean to oneself?

Now that hair-growing has become a national pastime for the members of the phrail sex, everybody being intent on sporting a mass of confined curls at the nape line, we had better resume some of the old time practices, like giving the hair one hundred strokes of the brush every night and treating it as if it were a beauty treasure, which it is. Each individual shaft has marvelous strength, considering its silky delicacy, but it can stand only a certain amount of abuse.

With the finger-wave on the skid, we can have the hair dried after the shampoo. Then only the ends need be moistened before the pin curl is started or the metal rods used. The result will be live appearance, more glitter and sheen. Each hair will be on its own instead of snuggling up against its neighbors. Girls with extremely oily hair which flattens down will find that their glory mops will look thicker than it did when the setting lotion was slapped down on a dripping wet head

* * *

Failure to keep brushes and combs scrupulously clean is to be unkind to the hirsute nimbus. Using the toilet articles of another person is bad policy. Dandruff, caused by a fungus growth, can be communicated.

There can be no criticism made of coiffures of the moment. They never were more attractive. Criticism can be made of evidences of neglect, hair that is dull and lifeless, not properly trimmed, casually shampooed.

Salmon Loaf Economical

By BETSY NEWMAN

I am giving you two recipes that are a little out of the ordinary and good for summer menus. Both are easy on the budget, too.

Today's Menu.

Novel Salmon Loaf
Corn on Cob Tomato Salad
Peppermint Ice Cream Coffee

* * *

Novel Salmon Loaf.

1 can salmon
2 tbsp. melted butter
2 eggs well beaten
2 soda crackers rolled fine
¼ cup cornmeal
1 cup buttermilk
½ tsp. baking soda
Salt and black pepper

Shred salmon, discard bones and skin, and combine with other ingredients. Stir soda into buttermilk before adding. Put in buttered baking dish and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve with parsley sauce, which is made as follows:

Parsley Sauce.

1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour
1 cup boiling water
Salt, pepper
½ bunch of parsley

Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and mix smooth, then gradually add boiling water, stirring constantly. Season with teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper, and take from fire. Add parsley cut with kitchen scissors. You can add 1 or 2 tablespoons of vinegar or lemon juice if you prefer a tart sauce.

* * *

Peppermint Ice Cream.

16 marshmallows
½ lb. peppermint stick candy.
1 cup boiling water
1 cup milk
1 pt. whipping cream

Put marshmallows and candy, which has been crushed, into top of double boiler, add boiling water and heat until dissolved; stir in milk and chill thoroughly. Whip cream stiff and fold candy mixture into it. Freeze either in mechanical refrigerator or in hand turned freezer. This will serve 6 to 8 persons.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Jack Leslie's chauffeur evidently knew when, in Mrs. Ticer's parlance, he was "up against a stone wall." After Dicky's instructions to me to use either of the guns I held in my hands if the chauffeur tried any resistance to Dicky's tying him up, the man used neither his voice nor his muscles.

From his pocket Dicky took some light but very strong cord and effectually trussed the man up into a helpless bundle. Then he took out a piece of cloth, picked up a stick and made an effective gag.

"It's clean, Buddy," he said apologetically as he put it in the man's mouth, "and I'll take it out the second I can. I've had those things in myself, and I don't like to wish one of them even on a member of Jack Leslie's gang, than which there can be nothing lower."

"Keep on thinking that, Buddy, if it cheers you up any," he said. "I'm coming round to you in a minute. There!" as he finished adjusting the gag in the man's mouth. "I think you'll do for a few minutes."

He picked the man up easily, for the chauffeur was a slight fellow, and, carrying him a few feet to the rear, put him down on a heap of leaves where he could not possibly be seen from the road.

"Train the peepers on that bird every once in a while," he said to Lilhan and me, "but pay most attention to this one. Keep all three of those gats trained on him."

He stepped to Leslie's side and began to search him for weapons to a running accompaniment of picturesque invective from the gang leader, which Dicky did not attempt to stop. This time he unloaded every weapon as he took it from Leslie's person, and tossed it to the ground beside him, leaving us free to keep our eyes fixed upon Leslie. Dicky stepped back and bowed low.

"Mes compliments, Messieur!" he said. "Never in my life have I heard such magnificent invective. It desolates me to have to gag you, but it must be done. I cannot risk your talking any more. Some of your little pals might be coming back and might hear you. So, if you don't mind, we'll gag you first and truss you up afterward."

He went to work immediately, and in a surprisingly short time, Leslie, with shoes also replaced, was trussed up as his chauffeur had been. Dicky looked at him a few seconds, cocked an ear toward the road, and hearing nothing, broke into a laugh.

"You're such a devilishly dangerous fellow," he said, addressing Leslie, "and so swollen in your own conceit, that it does my heart good to let you know how you've been fooled."

He took a deep breath and then went on.

"In the first place, Noel and Mary are safe at home. They never were within reach of you. The two you saw were two clever detectives and impersonators, who played their roles marvelously. They also are safe, for the Chief's men are waiting at a junction down the road, enough of them to take care of your force easily."

He paused again while Leslie's eyes grew blacker with rage, and he twisted impotently in his bonds.

"In the second place, the box with Queen Olga's emeralds is on its way back to the farm, and to complete the picture, let me introduce you to your captors, my wife and Harry Underwood's, fairly good-looking gals if they had some of this mud scrubbed off their faces, and would discard these old hand-me-downs of our men-of-all-work."

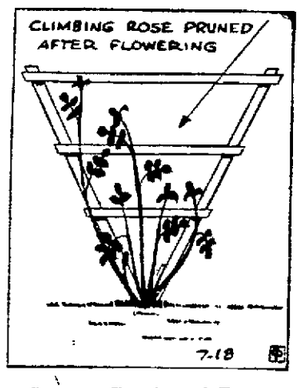
Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY



Summer Pruning of Roses.

Certain climbing roses are pruned at this season. The large flowering type and the new everblooming climbers flower on the old as well as the new wood. Therefore, these varieties merely require removal of the withered flowers.

The small flowered climbers or ramblers (multiflora and wichuraiana) bloom better on the new canes of the previous season's growth. Therefore, immediately after the flowering season, the old, hard canes which have borne flowers should be removed at the ground or to a point where a strong, new shoot arises from the old cane.

Following this pruning, the young new canes should be trained up and fastened to the arbor or trellis, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. This yearly pruning results in neat, healthy-looking ramblers instead of neglected, tangled masses of unhealthy canes.

PRIZES OLD MARE

BERLIN, Md.—(AP)—Charlton Dryden, a farmer, refused to sell his 37-year-old mare to the University of Maryland Experimental Station. The reason—he did all his "courtin'" in a buggy pulled by Sadie, the mare, before his marriage 27 years ago.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, July 19.

Another day of spectacular events, with unprecendented progress which may result in a complete turnabout face from old ideas and traditions, with eyes turned front to definite new adventures and experiences, radical and far reaching. Originality, advanced ideals possibly of startling nature or of exalted vision may be expected to project to high levels of achievement with the element of romance not slighted. In such major operations however, there is need for discretion as there are hints of fraud, duplicity, irregularity.

Those whose birthday it is are at the brink of a year of excellent progress and prosperity which may demand a radical and far-reaching turn in the affairs, with new ideas, fresh scenes and high aspiration. There may be strokes of remarkable creative genius, with extraordinary adventure and possibly romance in the forefront.

A child born on this day may have such creative genius and originality, with trends toward the everchanging new and novel. Its progessive traits and talents may invite perfidy and opposition and from high places.

DRUMS TO SPARE

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas.—(AP)—S. L. Shore of Arkansas thinks he might be able to make a fortune if he could develop a new strain of chickens from one hatched recently at his place. The chick had four drumsticks.

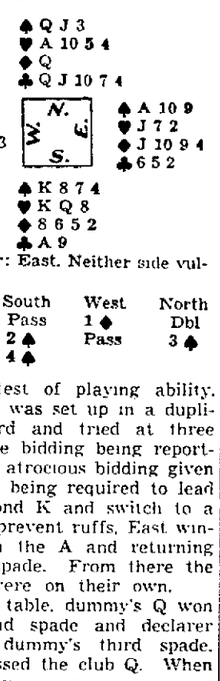
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

LET SOME FINESSES WIN

It is a natural habit to take a trick with a king whenever a declarer finesses a queen to you. There are times, however, when it is better to let his queen win and then later on block the run of the suit with the K, after a vital entry has been knocked out of the hand containing the established cards.



(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Dbl
2 ♦	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

As a test of playing ability, this hand was set up in a duplicate board and tried at three tables, the bidding being reported as the atrocious bidding given and West being required to lead his diamond K and switch to a spade to prevent ruffs. East winning with the A and returning another spade. From there the players were on their own.

At one table, dummy's Q won the second spade and declarer took in dummy's third spade, then finessed the club Q. When West won this, his side cashed three more diamond tricks, setting the declarer two.

With somewhat better players at the second table, declarer won the second spade in the dummy and then left a spade there as he finessed the club Q to West. Here West led a third trump, which dummy won. Clubs then furnished discards for South's diamonds. A diamond lead, knocking out the dummy's last trump on a ruff, could have altered the play, but not set the contract.

Much more advanced players at the third table got a most interesting result. After dummy won the second trump and sent the club Q through, West refused to win it. Declarer then won the club A, re-entered dummy with the heart A, led the club J to the K, discarding the diamond 5, then had to ruff the diamond returned by West, using up the dummy's last trump. The club 10 was ruffed by the spade 8, the spade K dropped the missing ones and the heart K and Q made nine tricks, but declarer then had to lose the setting trick in diamonds.

Hull Leads Delegation to Pan-American Conference

INSULATION SOUGHT FOR HEMISPHERE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Hull led a United States delegation southward today for the second inter-American conference since the European war set in motion efforts to insulate this hemisphere against military and economic threats from abroad.

Packed away in diplomatic bags on the train (leaving Washington at 3 p. m. EST) were preliminary plans for discussions at Havana which officials hoped would carry forward the work of the last conference at Panama and bring home positive action.

The party, including trade, agriculture and monetary experts in addition to state department officials, is due in Miami, Fla., tomorrow afternoon. They will embark there on the over-night boat for Havana, where the conference of foreign ministers opens Sunday.

High on the agenda was the question of new world possisions owned by countries overrun or threatened with invasion by Germany.

Involved in initial exchanges among the 21 American republics were proposals for Pan-American mandates or protectorates over regions whose sovereignty, in the words of the agenda, "is relinquished, lapsed or is materially impaired."

Some plan for preventing direct or indirect use of these regions by the axis powers as military or economic bases was reported to be looked upon favorably by some, if not all, of the American republics.

Nazi political activities already troubling some of the Latin American governments promised to bring concerted action at Havana, possibly similar to the stricter immigration and alien-control police measures already adopted in the United States.

The ten billion dollar rearmament program of the United States was the big talking point of this country's delegation in efforts to enlist co-operation of other American nations in the common cause of an impregnable hemisphere defense.

American dollars also were behind United States efforts to win full support of the other republics for measures to protect new world economy against the spreading autarchic methods in Europe.

Searcher Admits Assault Slaying of Chicago Girl

CHICAGO—(INS)—An eight-year-old girl was found beaten to death today, her body cruelly mutilated and stuffed behind a heating plant boiler in the basement of a building less than a block from her home.

The little victim was Mazie F. Smith, daughter of a milkman. A few hours after a posse of citizens organized a search for her killer, one of the searchers, Robert Schroeder, 26-year-old tavern porter, was arrested and police said he confessed that he murdered the child.

A physician who examined the body said the girl apparently had been criminally assaulted. It was in the basement of the building where Schroeder was employed that the youngster's body was found.

Supreme Court to Test Greenlun Pay Case

The cover on this week's Liberty magazine is the work of a former Mansfield boy, H. Reed McBride. Reed graduated with the Senior high class of 1912 and has "gone places" since then as an artist and cartoonist. His pictures are used by Collier's for covers and by all of the McFadden publications. This week's picture shows a Scotchman throwing away his crutches to race to a rally where "free cigars" are a feature.

City Detective Oscar Krupp went to the sheriff's office this morning to announce that this is his birthday, but before he left he realized he had picked the wrong place. "If there are any presents, I'll take cigars," Krupp said. About that time Sheriff E. P. Long grabbed a black jack out of his desk and started for the city offirer, while Deputy J. R. Hetler came in from the other side as if he planned to give Krupp the customary birthday pounding. There were no injuries in the scuffle, but Krupp decided promptly to call off the whole thing.

Two girls were inquiring the whereabouts of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, today after they passed a train at the Orange street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad. They were telling their friends they believed they sighted the G. O. P. candidate in a dining car eating his breakfast as the train stopped in Mansfield. But Willkie for the past several days has been in Colorado Springs, Colo., vacationing. It was just another case of mistaken identity.

Some of the tourists may be having trouble getting back into the United States from Canada, but W. C. "Bill" Mead said he ran into less difficulty this summer than at any time in recent years. "It was a cinch this time," Mead said. "All I did was show the authorities at Buffalo a certificate to prove I am a registered voter and naturally a citizen, tell them where I was born, and what I had in the car, and that's all there was to it." Mead who has just returned from a vacation in Ontario, said the tourist business in Canada has been hurt because of a mistaken idea that authorities are making visitors to Canada produce virtually their life history before letting them over the border.

Three More New Residences To Be Built in City.

Building permits with a total estimated valuation of $12,000 were issued at City Hall today for construction of three new residences and alterations on a fourth house.

Largest of the permits went to Anton Betz, R. D. 5, Mansfield, who plans construction of a $5,500 home at 541 Sloane avenue. Edward Getz, 141 Wolfe avenue, will build a $5,000 house at 509 Sloane avenue, and Mrs. Mary David, 281 East Second street, will construct a $1,000 residence at 474 Lawnsdale avenue. A permit for alterations costing $500 to his home was issued to H. L. Princehorn, 163 Ludwig avenue.

GET ORDER ON RELIEF PURGE

City, County Officials Told Persons Refusing Jobs Must Be Taken Off Rolls.

Mansfield and Richland county relief officials had been instructed today to purge relief rolls of able-bodied persons who refuse to accept employment.

In a letter to the relief heads, State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood pointed out that with limited funds available for relief in most communities, eliminating ineligibles from the relief rolls would permit local authorities to conserve funds for relief clients actually in need of help.

J. V. Finney, city-county relief director, said the office here had had little trouble with clients who refused to work.

"We have attempted all along to take all those who refused to work off direct relief, but the percentage of able-bodied nonworkers is very small, Finney said.

A state law prohibits the furnishing of relief funds to clients who turn down jobs, but Sherwood indicated officials in some sections of the state were violating the law.

SUIT DROPPED

Insurance Company Settles Arson Claim Action.

A suit for $4,216 damages against J. W. McGugin, R. D. 2, Lucas, serving a term in the Ohio penitentiary for arson, was settled and dismissed today in common pleas court.

The action was brought several months ago by the Wayne Insurance Association of Wooster which sought to recover funds it paid McGugin for the destruction of a barn on his farm near Lucas.

The insurance association filed the action after McGugin was cited for arson. He was accused in the petition of setting fire to the barn to defraud the insurance firm. McGugin admitted later in court that he started the fire.

SHOE DEALERS IN MANSFIELD VICTIMIZED BY NEW RACKET

Several Mansfield shoe stores were victimized by a racket which netted only a small amount of money but which has been practiced throughout the United States, according to postal authorities.

A man who said he lived in Mansfield entered a Main street shoe store with a diagram of the store's location on a sheet of paper, which he said had been drawn by a house guest who had just left for her home in Sac City, Ia.

She was a nurse, he said, attached to the Amick hospital at Sac City and she had made the diagram of the store's location because she couldn't remember the name of it. She had left a check for a pair of corrective shoes made by a nationally known firm, and would the store please send the shoes to her?

The manager of the store (in one instance) noticed that the check was for $1.50 more than the price of the shoes. The stranger said perhaps the shoes were higher priced in the midwest, and that the manager could either send the money or a money order.

Since he didn't suggest that money be turned over to him, the manager "fell" for the apparent honesty and asked the man to take the money and send it to the nurse.

After the man left with the $1.50, the manager thought he had better first send the check to Sac City to see if it were good.

When it failed to return in several days, he sent the shoes. This week both the shoes and the check came back, both marked "no such person."

Another Main street shoe merchant did not give the man any money but sent the shoes. When both the shoes and the check were returned to him, he wrote the postmaster in Sac City, who said in a return letter that his office and the express office were piled high with packages from all over the United States.

There was no such person as the nurse and no one calls for the merchandise. The man's "take" in Mansfield was small for so far as could be learned, he obtained only the $1.50 from one merchant.

JURISTS GRANT REVIEW APPEAL IN ORDER TODAY

The Ohio Supreme court had agreed today to review a case in which Robert L. Greenlun, Ashland state highway marking supervisor, seeks to collect back pay for seven months he was suspended and off the payroll last year.

The court will determine whether Greenlun and other state workers can regain back pay by bringing a mandamus action after they have been reinstated.

Greenlun was removed in the last days of the Davey administration and then regained his job as the result of an Ashland county common pleas court decision.

He brought a mandamus suit against State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler for back pay at the rate of $170 a month. The highway director appealed to the supreme court which held that in view of existing supreme court decisions it was compelled to reverse the common pleas court order that granted Greenlun his back pay.

Greenlun then appealed to the supreme court, his counsel requesting that it re-examine its old rulings in similar cases. The salary inquestion was from Jan. 7, 1939, to Aug. 14, 1939, when Greenlun went back to his job.

Personnel records of the highway department show Greenlun was removed as of Nov. 7, 1939. The order of removal was upheld by the state civil service commission on Jan. 27, 1940.

The discharge order involved in the present court action was made in the last days of the Davey administration by Former Highway Director Ivan R. Ault, also of Ashland. The suit for reinstatement and back pay, however, was directed against Beightler as successor to Ault.

WAR VET DIES

Shelby Man Stricken Sopn After Golf Match.

SHELBY—A heart attack following a round of golf at the Shelby Country club at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, caused the death of Clyde F. Connelley, 56, Shelby war veteran.

Mr. Connelley had just completed a round of golf in a tournament between members of the Shelby and Bucyrus clubs, and was talking to a group of men when stricken. A Bucyrus physician playing nearby was unable to revive him.

Mr. Connelley had been an employe of Mrs. W. W. Skiles for the past 25 years, and had been an active member of the Shelby Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was a past commander of that organization.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Baldinger of Crestline, who is vacationing in Conada. The body was removed to the Barkdull funeral home, pending funeral arrangements.

Relatives Investigate Murder Theory In Drowning.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Relatives of Joseph Luzietti, 25, Cincinnati cook, went to Petersburg, Boone county, Kentucky, today to exhume his body in the belief he was murdered.

Luzietti's body was recovered from the Ohio river and buried yesterday. He had been missing from home since Sunday.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

You Can't Print That.

(This is a compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If there is in them any resemblance to actual characters, living or dead—you've probably guessed right.)

Count X. is a well-known and well-liked gent about town, who not long ago fell in love with a beutiful show girl named Nell. She appeared to return his affections, but because she was so glamorous and charming, naturally plenty of stage-door Johnnies shared the count's ideas—and well he knew it.

He decided that Nell, living alone as she did, ought to have some silent protector for the hours when he couldn't personally see to her safety. "This town is full of wolves," he said. "A lovely girl like you should have some sort of bodyguard."

So he bought her a little police dog puppy, and Nell became devoted to the dog, and he to her.

Months passesd, and the canine grew from a playful roly-poly into a stalwart guardian of our Nell. He became the one-man dog to end all one-man dogs. And one evening, when the count came to call at Nell's apartment, Rover growled with a fierce lack of recognition, barked, leaped upon his honor, and bit him.

Nell protested that she had grown to love the animal, and her admirer's anger rose. "You will have to choose," was his ultimatum, "between him and me."

Nell thought for only a brief moment.

"Okay," she said. "I'll take the dog!"

* * *

When Loretta Z. was young and pretty and ambitious, she was in love with a boy named Bob, but she was even more in love with her career as a newspaper woman. There was romance enough in that, she told him—and told herself—so she gladly gave Bob over to the other girls, and went on merrily hitting her typewriter.

Eventually she won a by-line, and then she became editor of a popular feature in which romantic young folk were given advice. It was fascinating to her, she told her pals, to look into the hearts of the world. And as she looked, time went by and she never heard it going. Her old friends married and had children and drifted away from her little world of headlines and deadlines and letters from people she never knew.

Sometimes, at night, she was lonely. Slowly she came to realize that in looking too long upon the loves of strangers, she had lost her own. And one day she read that she had lost Bob, too; he had married another girl.

That's why, as the chain of other people's romances passes through Loretta's hands—and her typewriter—she does everything she can to see that Boy gets Girl. She never urges lovers to part, always she begs them to forgive and forget and love forever. She is determined that there shall be no lonely hearts among her readers—except her own.

But you can't print that. Her trusting readers would lose all faith in her advice if they knew that she was much more lovelorn than they.

* * *

Archie A. and Betty B. are two of the town's most interesting stage personalities. Right now they're busy whipping up a new romance, and their technique for being seen in public without exciting comment is the most imaginative one yet thought of to fool the gossip-hounds. They telephone each other in the afternoon and decide upon a place to meet that night.

Archie arrives first, takes a table, and orders a drink. Betty arrives 15 minutes later, alone and sits at another table. Soon Archie finds a mutual friend and says: "You know, I've never met Miss B. Will you introduce me?" The obliging and innocent friend takes the boy star to meet the girl star and the three sit in a huddle that even a Broadway columnist couldn't interpret as a romance line.

After a while the boy star says: "If you're alone I'll be happy to see you home"—and he does.

So far, not a soul has suspected they're a "hot item."

But you can't print that. Bringing the romance into the open would take most of the fun out of it for them because they're both more intrigued with the game they're playing than they are with each other.

* * *

Mary W. is a beautiful Chinese girl, familiar to the Broadwayites because she used to be a hat check and cigaret girl at Ruby Foo's Den. Here is one of the most hopeless romances along the Stem, but for none of the usual reasons.

A year ago she met and fell in love with a young man who returned her affection with deep devotion. No — it wasn't a "Madame Butterfly" situation—her beau is an Oriental, too. And there's no other love to stand in the way, and he has a job that could support them both.

But they can't get married. They can't even see each other in public the way other boys and girls can. They have to meet each other at odd hours in obscure corners of the city. And the greatest tragedy is that they know this bitter relationship will never change.

Because if they made their love public, she would be cut off by her family and shunned by all her Chinese friends—and he would probably lose his job with the Japanese diplomatic service!

But you can't print that. Let them at least keep what little they've got, for as long as they can keep their own secret.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The big "cycle" in the movies right now is not westerns, not war movies, not musicals—but youth.

A few years ago the youngsters played second fiddle to the seasoned troupers. The heyday of Will Rogers, Marie Dressler and Lionel Barrymore saw film stories created to glorify the middle-aged and beyond. It was the era of "characters."

The "characters" still are in the running, and strongly so, but the kids are in there fighting. And they'll be pushing against the positions now held firmly by established stars of the Colbert, Lombard, Dietrich class.

The war, oddly, may be the cause for the rush to youth, and for two reasons. First, there's the war-born desire for light, sweet stuff in the films, and youth supplies the demand. Second, the war and its direct effect on the studios' foreign markets makes the culture of "new blood" of vital interest. With lessened revenues the lots will find it harder to meet the "fortune a picture" demands of the top-names. With upcoming youngsters in reserve (at comparatively small salaries) they can beat down the demands or, failing this, can thrust the newcomers upward to take the choice spots.

* * *

The trend is especially noticeableable at 20th Century-Fox, where Zanuck's oldest feminine star, Alice Faye, is 25. Zanuck has been giving newcomers unusual opportunities right along, and has cashed in handsomely already on Linda Darnell, stands to win again on Mary Beth Hughes. Lynne Roberts (who was Mary Hart in Republic's western) has the lead in "Street of Memories" with John McGuire, a young fellow who is making his second try in films. Sheila Ryan (who was Paramount's Betty McLaughlin) is spotted in a "Cisco Kid" yarn, and Anne Baxter is coming along in "The Great Profile." Nancy Kelly, Marjorie Weaver and Arleen Whelan are other youthfuls doing consistent service in the lot's pictures, any of them a possibility for a starring "break" one of these days. And Betty Grable, rejected by Paramount but a quick come-back after a Broadway click, is showered with starring opportunities—first in Alice Faye's role in "Down Argentine Way," which Alice left to get a rest, then in the Irving Berlin musical, "Say It With Music." The lot also has Gene Tierney, only 20, but already big-time because she arrived via a Broadway hit in "The Male Animal."

So "Youth Will Be Served," which is a Jane Withers movie title, is going to be more than that.

PERIOD OPENS

Registrations Being Made For Hi-Y Training Camp.

The Y. M. C. A. today opened registrations for the 19th annual Ohio Hi-Y training camp set for the "Y" camp, Camp Nelson Dodd, near Brinkhaven.

Mansfield boys will attend the first period, which opens Aug. 7 and continues 10 days, closing Aug. 17. A second period will be held from Aug. 19 to 29.

Conducted as a training period for officers and leaders of Hi-Y clubs who will carry the responsibility in next year's program, the camp will attract high school boys from throughout the state.

Richard Wendland of the Ralph Chapman Hi-Y club is the first Mansfield boy to register for camp. At least one member from each of the six city clubs is expected to attend camp, according to Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary.

BOARD HIRES 8 SECRETARIES

Accepts Resignations of Two Teachers, Hires Another At Regular Meeting.

Six school secretaries had been re-employed and two new secretaries and one teacher had been hired today by the Mansfield board of education.

The board also accepted the resignations of Harold C Miller, vocational teacher at Senior high school, and Miss Nelle Bumer, teacher in the Woodland school Miller quit to take a job as coordinator of vocational education in the Marsh Foundation at Van Wert, while Miss Bumer will teach next year in the Granville, O., high school

Harry E. Russell, 36 West Arch street, was hired to take Miller's place in the vocational department. He is a graduate of Ashland college and has been a part-time teacher in the college and Ashland high school.

Secretaries who were given renewal contracts were Miss Anne Arron, secretary, and Miss Phyllis Underwood assistant secretary to Supt. W. L. Miller; Miss Mary Holmes, secretary to John H Eisaman, board of education clerk, Miss Emily Brown, secretary at Senior high school; Miss Naomi Stutz, secretary at John Simpson Junior high school, and Miss Virginia Palmer, secretary at Johnny Appleseed Junior high school.

Miss Gerry M Hartman was hired to succeed Mrs Erma C. Dunn as secretary to J. B. Moke, superintendent of buildings, and Miss Theresa Hallabrin was given the secretary's post at the Bowman school, replacing Miss Kathryn Pocock

The board employed Mrs Deborah Wood as cook in the deaf school and Mrs. Cleo Buchter to cook in the Sunshine school for handicapped children.

Tops as Cook

COURT REMISSION

DENVER, Colo — (U P) — When Kay E. Edmonds failed to answer a summons for jury service an investigation was started to determine why. One look convinced the court, Kay E Edmonds, despite the masculine sounding name, is a pretty 21-year-old girl. Colorado state law prohibits women from serving on juries.

VALEDICTORIANS

VENTURA, Ia.—(U P)—The awarding of honors for scholarship at the Ventura, Ia, high school has become something of a family affair. This year Hilda Dorow was named valedictorian. Last year the honor went to her brother Norbert and the previous year the award was made to another brother, Edgar

GRASSHOPPERS MENACE CANADA

EDMONTON, Alta (U P) - The grasshoppers have become so thick in some parts of southeastern Alberta that farmers have been forced to stop seeding, according to reports received here by the provincial department of agriculture.

However, the agriculture department here does not regard the situation as too alarming and points out that the grasshopper menace will only become aggravated if there is a long dry spell.
